ACTION LINE is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Ice Cream Man

Q. Where can I get one of those bicycles with an ice cream cooler on the front? S. S., Hawaiian Gardens.

A. ACTION LINE found that these bikes are a rare item in this area. We did locate one, however, owned by Eugene Lassers, operator of Mel-O-Dee Ice Cream Co., 1601 W. 15th St., HE 7-7220. He won't sell it for less than $450; though, Lassers said he could put you in contact with a manufacturer of ice cream bikes in New York, if you wish. He says new ones sell for around $600.

Stamp Collecting

Q. My mother is old and cannot work. She has a very meager income of about $1,500 a year and would like to know how to apply for food coupons. L. W., Lakewood.

A. If your mother lives alone in Los Angeles County or in one of the seven other counties in California involved in the federally funded program, she may be able to apply, says Adeline Rollefson of the Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Service office at 1517 Long Beach Blvd. Your mother may qualify if she has an income of $1,000 whether or not she is on welfare. The income standards change for two or more people. Your mother should apply at a branch of the County Department of Public Social Service and bring some proof of her expenses, income and place of residence. If she qualifies, she will receive an identification card and a monthly authorization-to-purchase card. She would then go to a participating bank and pay $20 for $26 worth of food coupons. She can take the coupons to a participating grocery store and buy food, with the exception of some imported foods. The store then returns the stamps to the local banks and receives the full amount of money for them. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reimburses the banks.

String Along

Q. There is a television commercial in which a man in a white shirt plays an instrument which seems to be a wooden frame with strips of metal attached at one end. What is the name of the instrument? Where can one be purchased, and what is the approximate cost? M. B., Long Beach.

A. A spokesman for Seven Up Bottling Co. of Los Angeles says the instrument in the Seven-Up commercial is a sitar, an Indian lute with a pear-shaped body made from a gourd and a long, fretted neck. You can purchase sitars at Wallich's Music City, 5255 Lakewood Blvd., Lakewood, for $150 and up. In Santa Monica, Ace Music Co., 523 Santa Monica Blvd., sells sitars for $75 and up.

Along Shore Work

Q. Is there any way a Class B longshoreman can transfer here from another Pacific port without losing his rating? J. B., Wilmington.

A. If the longshoreman has a good work and conduct record and the Joint Port Labor Relations Committee composed of union and management officials approves, a transfer may be obtained without losing the Class B or limited registered rating, explains a spokesman for the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, Local 13, 213 W. C St., Wilmington. She quotes the Pacific Coast Longshore Contract Supplement One, No. 1.7, which deals with the transfers of longshoremen between ports: "Fully registered men having less than one year of such status and limited registered men may apply for inclusion on the limited registered list of another port and consideration shall be given to work and availability record under the Pacific Coast longshoreman agreement in taking action on such applications." For more information, call the ILWU at SP 5-1658.

APO New York

Q. My husband is stationed at an Army base near Frankfurt, Germany. I am planning to join him soon. However, a minor crisis has developed over mailing some household items there and I need to send APO address to him immediately. But all I have is his APO address. How can I find out exactly what and where the base is? A. S., Bellflower.

A. With the help of the Army Office of Chief of Information in Los Angeles, ACTION LINE learned that your husband is stationed in Vogelweh, Germany. A representative of Western Union Telegraph Co. says that on the telegram, you should list your husband's name, rank, serial number military outfit, the city and country. She adds that normally Western Union can tell customers where the base is from the APO number.

SOUND OFF!

Just as Los Angeles has been referred to as Smogville by the Freeway, Long Beach has certainly earned the title of Dust Bowl by the Sea. Everyone who uses the beach or lives close to it is treated to a dust storm every day. The beach is raked and sifted until the sand is powdered and every building, shrub and tree in the vicinity is grey with a thick coating of dust. It's nice to have unlimited funds for the care of the beach, but couldn't we use a little more imagination? Perhaps we could remove the papers that blow halfway up the bluff and clear out the trash from under the stairways or maybe even plant something to keep down erosion at the end of the streets. Anyway, it would be nice to get some other benefits from this great beach-cleaning expenditure and cut down on the dust storms. Mrs. C.C., Long Beach.

Gallup, Harris on Griddle

Moss Introduces Congressional Bill To Probe Polls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., with bipartisan backing, moved Friday to launch a congressional investigation of the Gallup, Harris, and other public opinion polls.

Citing a joint statement made Friday by Louis Harris and George Gallup attempting to reconcile their recent surveys of the GOP presidential race and one conducted by Archibald Crossley, Moss said:

"The time has come for someone to step in and investigate the polling practices; the unprecedented act of the nation's two largest pollsters combining in a common effort to correct their previous positions underscores that need."

Moss introduced legislation that would establish a 10-member select House committee to investigate opinion polls and to report back its findings next January.

MOSS NOTED in a press release that Harris and Gallup had explained away some of their differences by calling 1968 "the year of the unexpected in politics."

"I would suggest that more unexpected than the politics of 1968 is the behavior of the pollsters in 1968," Moss commented.

Others sponsoring the legislation were Reps. Lucien Nedzi, D-Mich., William Springer, R-Ill., Brock Adams, D-Wash., John Dingell, D-Mich., Chet Hollifield, D-Calif., H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, John Anderson, R-Ill., Mark Andrus, R-N.D., and Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill.

Nedzi, author of the so-called "Truth-in-Polling" bill, was critical of Gallup and Harris for the technique they used to reconcile their two recent polls.

Nedzi said Gallup and Harris, in devising a new set of tables, arbitrarily applied a shift of one percentage point from the extremes of the two divergent polls, bringing the results closer together.

"They could just as arbitrarily have added a point

BULLETIN

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—An airplane, believed to be a small private craft, caromed off the unopened Landmark Towers Hotel three blocks east of the Strip here Friday night and crashed through the roof of the Convention Center. The center was not in use at the time and it was not known if there were any fatalities.

SCORE ONE FOR ROTOR-ROOTERS

Rookie Police Helicopter Traps Robbery Suspects

By RUSS MacDONALD Staff Writer

Long Beach police were all smiles Friday as their newest rookie, still undergoing training, participated in the arrest of two men suspected of strongarm robbery.

The rookie, a helicopter pilot, veteran Officer Ben Post, hovered over the two suspects and directed a ground unit to the intersection of Pacific Avenue, and Anaheim Street, where the arrest was made.

Wallace Campaigns in State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Presidential candidate George Wallace arrived in California Friday night expressing no concern about dissension within his American Independent Party in the nation's most populous state.

"That's a sign of a healthy party, to have a little dissension," the former Alabama governor told reporters who met him at the Sacramento Municipal Airport following a flight in a leased DC-7 from Great Falls, Mont.

At Great Falls, Wallace praised Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

WALLACE came to Sacramento to attend the first state convention of the American Independent Party and be proclaimed its presidential nominee. But he found himself confronted with two party conventions.

CRACK GIANT AUTO PLANT DOPE RING

FREMONT (UPI) — A mammoth dope ring police say may involve more than 1,000 production line workers at a General Motors assembly plant was cracked this week after a three-month undercover investigation, it was disclosed Friday.

Thirteen employees were arrested.

An undercover agent, who took a job at the plant in April, reported wide-scale use of drugs during work hours.

Some men "turned on" while sitting inside autos on the assembly line, the agent reported.

THESE WERE the countries that tried to call him harshly to order a few weeks ago in a joint letter from Warsaw denouncing the liberal and democratic reforms in Czechoslovakia.

The only two Eastern European countries that support Dubcek — Romania and Yugoslavia — will be absent.

Despite hopeful statements by Dubcek, Czechoslovak President Ludvik Svoboda and National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky Thursday evening, many responsible western diplomats are convinced Dubcek will find himself in the position he has fought hard so far to avoid — that of defendant facing his "hard-line" accusers.

Much, it is believed here, will depend on whether the

300-Million Suit Filed on Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and four other members of the New York City law firm he joined in 1963 were named Friday as defendants in a $300-million damage suit filed by a Louisiana financier.

Nixon, who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, joined the law firm in June 1963. The circumstances cited in the papers filed in Federal Court in Manhattan began in 1960 and stretched through the spring of 1964.

THE SUIT, filed by J. Charles Burden Jr. of Alexandria, La., alleges the defendants conspired to throw Atlas Sewing Centers Inc., of Miami, Fla., into reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act and "raid" the company for its assets.

In addition to Nixon, it names as defendants The Irving Trust Co., Beneficial Finance of North Jersey, Randolph H. Guthrie, senior partner of the law firm, and Milton C. Rose, John H. Alexander and John N. Mitchell, also partners.

MITCHELL said in a statement issued by Herbert Klein, Nixon's chief press spokesman: "The suit is an obvious political

Accord Sought Today

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The Senate early today refused to join the Assembly in passage of a $289-million combination property-tax relief and school-finance package.

The action threatened to prolong the legislative session, which had been scheduled to end today.

The package, product of a Senate-Assembly conference committee, combined several bills which touched on senior citizens tax relief as well as the $155 million relief which the Legislature is obliged to provide property taxpayers before Oct. 1. If no relief plan becomes law by that date, the sales tax will drop from 5 to 4 1/2 cents on the dollar.

The legislators were expected to try to come up with a compromise today. The Senate vote on the complicated measure was 14-20.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican and Democratic assemblymen banded together in the 1968 Legislature's climactic hours Friday night and passed a take-it-or-leave-it $289-million package of property-tax relief and increased aid to public schools.

A 54-13 vote moved the measure to the Senate, the exact two-thirds margin required.

The lower house then adjourned until today — expected to be the last day of the seven-month-long meeting. That left it up to the Senate to decide whether to give in finally to the Assembly and Gov. Reagan's insistence that the lawmakers enact in 1968 the property-tax relief virtually all had promised.

MANY assemblymen were torn between the realization that the voters might revolt if no property-tax cuts are passed on this year, and the hasty fashion in which a Senate-Assembly conference committee patched together the huge bill.

Democratic Assemblyman Bob Morelli of Van Nuys pointedly reminded his colleagues that "nearly every member of this house" ran on a promise of tax cuts "in his last campaign."

As sent to the Senate, the bill by Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto had something

Red Sampan Convoy Smashed

Combined News Services

SAIGON Saturday—Roving U.S. helicopter gunships destroyed a small convoy of Viet Cong troop sampans moving toward Saigon and two oxcarts laden with 122mm rockets in separate action around the capital, military spokesmen said today. The roving helicopters first saw about 12 Communist soldiers moving through the Plain of Reeds west of Saigon in six sampans. The gunships quickly swooped toward the sampans, strafing the Viet Cong with rockets and machine-gun fire, killing all 12. Another bevy of helicopters spotted two oxcarts loaded with 122mm rockets along a trail near the iron triangle and reported blowing up 39 to 40 of the deadly Soviet-built rockets. The action took place late Friday afternoon. Several hours later, a U.S. Army patrol stumbled on a 10-man Viet Cong patrol six miles south of Saigon and killed nine Communists. One GI was wounded in the brief action.

American B52 bombers struck Communist supply centers in the A Shau Valley for the third day and bombed other targets northeast of Tay Ninh and Dak To. South Vietnamese troops killed 24 Viet Cong and captured seven in a two-day sweep 50 miles southeast of Saigon, government spokesmen announced. South Vietnamese troops lost 18 killed and 33 wounded. U.S. air cavalrymen reported uncovering two and one-half tons of arms and ammunition in a Communist cache 12 miles southwest of Hue.

Hanoi Blasts U.S. 'Escalation'

PARIS — A North Vietnamese spokesman denounced American leaders as "impudent liars" Friday, charging that while they talk about seeking peace in Vietnam they escalate the war. The attack, aimed at President Johnson, was the sharpest made by Hanoi's delegation to the Paris peace talks with the U.S. It was the latest of several developments which seem to reflect growing pressures and frustration on both sides on the deadlocked issue of ending U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

May Cut Green Beret Force in Viet

NHA TRANG—The Special Forces guerrilla fighters, who in 1962 were the first Americans to be involved in combat in Vietnam, are thinking of pulling out part of their troops by the first of 1969. The reduction would be small, 100 men of a contingent of 2,400 in Vietnam. But Col. Harold R. Aaron, who commands the men of the Green Beret, says a combination of factors is pointing to the time when the special forces will no longer be needed in large numbers. Their principal assignment has been to set up camps along infiltration routes and to train mercenary soldiers to watch those trails for enemy activity and occasionally to attack small enemy forces entering Vietnam.

Hong Kong Police, Red Chinese Clash

HONG KONG Saturday — Police fired pistol and carbine shots today in a clash with Chinese Communists painting anti-British slogans on walls and pavements in the heart of a Chinese business section. Three Communists were arrested. Painted slogans demanded re-opening of a Communist school, closed since a laboratory explosion revealed that it was being used as a bomb factory during last year's Communist-led riots and terrorism which killed more than 50 persons and wounded hundreds.

Bolivia's Arguedas May Visit U.S.

LONDON — Antonio Arguedas, former Bolivian interior minister who fled his country in a scandal over Ernesto "Che" Guevara's diary, has left Britain on his way home. Arguedas fled into Chile from Bolivia after the Guevara diary scandal broke. He is accused of transmitting copies of it to Cuba. He plans to visit the U.S. before returning to La Paz.

Gov. Sanchez Rejected, Switches Party

SAN JUAN, P.R. — With a parting blast at the party that rejected his bid for re-election, Gov. Roberto Sanchez Vilella switched allegiance to a new party Friday night and announced he would not run for a second term. He told a radio and television audience, he was joining the New People's party and leaving the Popular Democratic party because "it has abandoned the people."

Food Poisoning Kills 52 in India

CALCUTTA — Fifty-two persons died of food poisoning and 67 others were in critical condition after a Moslem religious festival in east India's Bihar State. It was described by Sutar Khana hospital officials as India's worst food poisoning toll in memory. Police said several persons — including one of the festival's cooks — have been detained for questioning.

NATIONAL

Delay of Fortas Appointment Hit

PHILADELPHIA — Outstanding members of the bar spoke out Friday in support of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice, and one said "leading lawyers are outraged" because senators are delaying a vote on his confirmation. A news conference attended by the top attorneys in the National College of Trial Lawyers also disclosed that attorney Leon Jaworski of Houston, who represented President Johnson at one time, helped investigate the qualifications for the high court of circuit Judge Homer Thornberry of Texas. Jaworski told reporters he has performed such chores repeatedly over the years as a member and ex-member of the Committee on the Federal Judiciary of the ABA. Joseph A. Ball of Long Beach president of the college, said he felt the sentiments of his entire group were being expressed by the lawyers at the news conference, although no vote of the college's governing board had been taken.

First 'Truth in Lending' Test

HACKENSACK — A 30-year-old Jersey City man was held in Bergen County jail Friday in $50,000 bail on a charge of using extortion to collect a loan made at an interest rate of more than 250 percent a year. Edward M. Thomas was described by U.S. Justice Department officials as the first person charged under the new federal "truth in lending" act, which was signed by President Johnson last May 29. The U.S. Attorney's office in Newark would not disclose the identity of the man who swore in an affidavit that his elbow was broken by Thomas after he failed to make $35 per week interest payments on a $700 loan.

Foreign Aid Bill Effort Breaks Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — An all-out effort to complete action on a foreign-aid authorization bill broke down Friday in a dispute over an amendment to limit log exports from public lands in the Pacific Northwest. A House-Senate conference reached agreement on all other points of difference between separate bills passed by the two chambers. The basic agreement was on an authorization of $1.96 billion in aid for the current fiscal year, almost exactly $1 billion less than President Johnson asked. But two meetings Friday failed to produce a settlement on the log amendment. Discussions will resume Sept. 5.

Firm Fears Loss of Entire Tomato Crop

CAMDEN — Faced with a rotting tomato crop, the Campbell Soup Co. urged Friday that 3,200 striking union members return to work while contract negotiations continue. The company call came in plea to a request by New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes for the firm and strikers to join in an effort to save the wasting tomato harvest. The company said it will lose its complete crop if the current strike lasts until Sept. 1.

'Miss X' Gets $9,940 in Back Pay

WASHINGTON — Congress agreed Friday to pay back wages to a Polish woman—known as "Miss X"—who spent eight years in a Communist jail on charges of being an American spy. The House completed congressional action and sent to the White House a measure that would award the woman $9,940.31, the amount she would have earned had she continued to work for the American government. Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., sponsor of the bill, said Miss X—who used the name to protect relatives still living in Poland—was arrested by secret police while she was an employee of the U.S. Consulate in Cracow.

JELLYFISH INVASION

DAYTONA BEACH — Lifeguards fought hordes of invading jellyfish on a 23-mile front Friday for the fourth straight day as the unwanted intruders forced the closing of public beaches approximately 80 miles to the south. Beaches at Indianland and Melbourne were closed after several stings were reported. Chief Lifeguard Ray Hutton said reddish-brown, golf-ball sized cuboidal jellyfish were claiming up to 1,200 casualties an hour among bathers who ignored warnings posted along the ocean at Daytona Beach. Jellyfish stings caused severe burning sensations and raised red welts.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Wallace Foe Indicted

Combined News Services

Former Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a moderate who was engaged in constant struggle against George Wallace and his policies, was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday on four counts of conspiring to commit extortion. Three other persons were named in the Birmingham indictments with Flowers, who ran unsuccessfully for governor against Wallace's late wife Lurleen in 1966. They were charged with using Flowers' position as Alabama attorney general from 1963 to 1967 to extort money from businessmen.

Flowers refused to comment on the indictment. The former attorney general, who of late had apparently retired from politics, ran in 1966 on the state's first open appeal to Negro voters. He charged that Alabama voter laws were set up to "prevent Negroes from voting." He called the Ku Klux Klan "hooded killers."

His son, Richmond Jr., a student at the University of Tennessee, is a hurdler considered likely to be on the U.S. Olympic team.

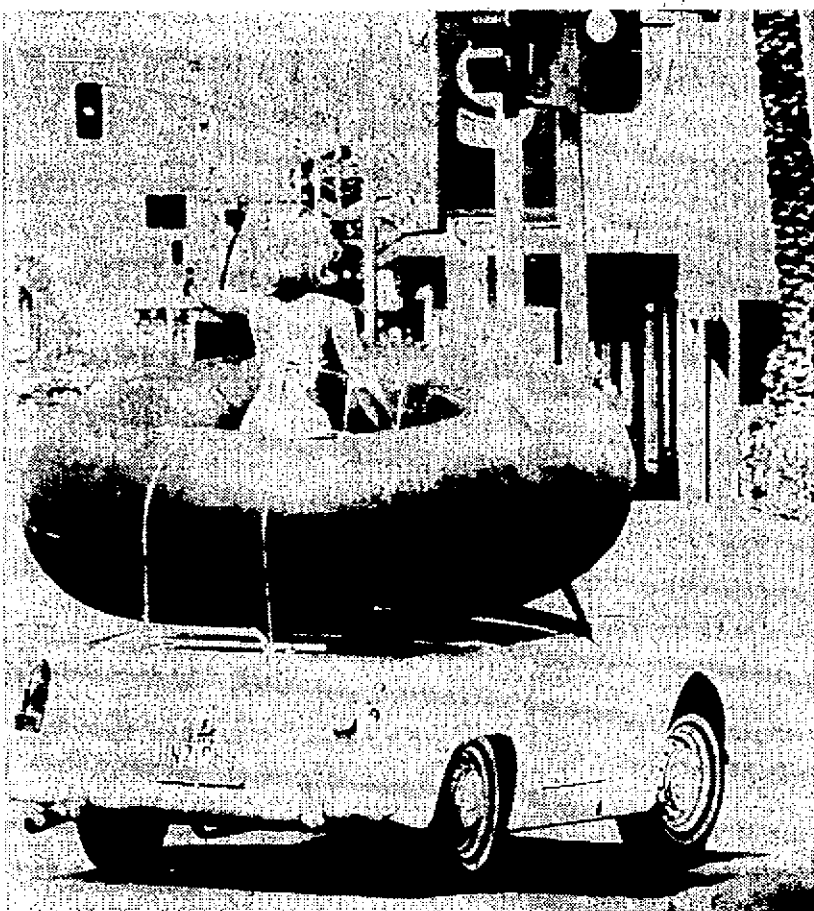

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said a Federal Grand Jury in Birmingham returned indictments against Flowers, Birmingham businessman Oscar Hyde, James Kelley of Laurel, Miss and Joe Breck Gantt, an assistant attorney general under Flowers. Clark said the four men were accused of conspiring "to wrongfully exact payments from persons, companies and corporations doing business in Alabama during Flowers' term of office."

BACK TAXES

The Internal Revenue Service is claiming $4.8 million in back income taxes from the board chairman of an Alpena, Mich., company, according to documents on file in the U.S. Tax Court. The claim, against Jesse H. Besser, 85-year-old head of the Besser Co., is being contested by Besser. A hearing has been requested by Besser's attorneys in Detroit. No date has been set.

BARRETT QUILTS

Citing a disagreement "with those who make university policy," Edward W. Barrett resigned Friday as dean of Columbia University's graduate school of journalism. "I simply find myself in disagreement with the basic outlook of a majority of those who make university policy," Barrett said. The 58-year-old former assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said he feels the Columbia faculty and students should have more influence in university policy.

THAI COPTERS

U.S. Ambassador to Thailand, Leonard Unger Friday turned over 10 new turbine-powered HU1H helicopters worth $2.5 million to the Thai army to help it fight insurgents. They are the first of 50 such helicopters, similar to those used by the U.S. Army in Vietnam, that eventually will be provided Thailand.

AUSSIE PLANS SECOND RUN IN DEATH VALLEY

Australian distance runner Bill Emmerton left Los Angeles today for Death Valley where on Monday he will start a 211-mile run through one of the hottest areas in the world. The 47-year-old Emmerton will start from Scotty's Castle, a famous Death Valley landmark, on a run that will terminate at Las Vegas, Nev. Death Valley is 280 feet below sea level at its lowest point and summer temperatures there range as high as 140 degrees. The run will take either five or six days. He will be accompanied by four persons in a mobile home. Last April Emmerton made a 125 mile run through Death Valley in three days, 3 hours and 13 minutes.

Doctors at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver said Friday Mrs. Ellen Hershey, 75, wife of Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, should be released from the hospital in two or three days. Mrs. Hershey was hospitalized Thursday with what doctors said was a separation of cartilage from the breast bone probably caused by coughing.

SINGER'S SON

Singer Billy Daniels, 23-year-old son, Virgil, Friday entered a plea of innocent to a marijuana possession charge. Young Daniels was ordered by Santa Monica Municipal Judge David W. Williams to return for trial Sept. 16. He was arrested last May 24 in West Hollywood.

UCLA Bans SDS Activity on Campus for 15 Months

Dean of Students Byron H. Atkinson confirmed Friday that the Students for a Democratic Society organization has been suspended from campus activity at UCLA for 15 months.

The suspension was ordered by Chancellor-designate Charles Young after a hearing by the UCLA Board of Review on charges the organization ripped down a photographic display showing Viet Cong atrocities.

Dean Atkinson said the decision on the suspension was delayed for more than 10 days to permit SDS members to answer the charges after the organization failed to appear at a June hearing by the board of review despite repeated invitations.

The charges against the SDS were brought by the Thomas Jefferson Club, a campus organization which sponsored the exhibition of photographs.

Under the suspension order, the SDS is banned from any organizational activity at UCLA until October 1969.

The suspension went into effect 10 days ago but was not publicly announced. It was confirmed by Atkinson after the UCLA Daily Bruin, campus newspaper, carried a story Friday on the action.

Sigma Chi Legislature OKs Ban Lifted 6-Cent L.A. Tax by Dumke

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke has lifted his ban on Sigma Chi fraternity chapters at Fresno, San Bernardino Valley, San Jose and San Diego State Colleges.

Letters lifting the ban imposed last November were sent by Dumke to presidents of the four schools. This clears the way for reinstatement of the fraternity.

THE BAN was imposed because the national fraternity retained the right to veto prospective members.

Dumke lifted the ban after Floyd R. Baker, international president of Sigma Chi, informed him that "the national fraternity will exercise no veto over the pledging of students into the fraternity so long as the student is pledged in accordance with the rules for rush of the California state colleges."

Port Pilot Sues to Clear 5-Day Suspension Record

A Los Angeles Harbor Department port pilot filed suit Friday in Superior Court to clear his work record of a five-day suspension and to recover $245 in lost wages.

Contending he was arbitrarily suspended April 5, 1967, from his job on a charge of insubordination, L. S. Patton named the Board of Harbor Commissioners and its general manager in the suit.

Patton also claimed he was wrongly accused of delaying important tariff changes which caused loss of revenue to the department.

He said Caughlin acted arbitrarily by suspending him without the approval of the Board of Commissioners.

L.A. City Councilman Billy G. Mills, in a written reprimand to Caughlin after a hearing on the matter, in July last year, labeled the treatment given Patton "unjust," and implied that the Harbor Department penalized him for testifying before a city commission concerning the department.

L.A. Council Panel to Study Finances

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A special City Council committee Friday was appointed by Council President L. E. Timberlake to "establish a clear-cut method of putting the city on a sound financial basis" for the current fiscal year.

Timberlake, who will head the committee, said attempts will be made to work out a plan within two weeks to help solve a potential $54.8 million deficit in financing the city's $445.8 million 1968-69 budget.

Drowning Murder Told ---Find Baby

The body of a 21-year-old woman was found Friday in Hansen Dam Lake in the San Fernando Valley after a girl friend reported that two men dragged the woman into the water and held her under, police said.

Ramona Espinosa Escobar of San Fernando was found by a diver in five feet of water, about 30 feet from the lake's southwest shoreline, police said. An autopsy is scheduled to determine cause of death.

Officers said they were called to the lake Thursday night when residents heard Miss Escobar's companion screaming. Police would not identify the other girl.

She told police that two men forced Miss Escobar into the lake and held her head under the water until she stopped struggling.

Officers said the girl gave two conflicting stories about the incident. They said she was incoherent and "under the influence of some drug."

PLEADS 'NOT GUILTY,' LOUD AND CLEAR Sirhan to Go on Trial Nov. 1

Sirhan B. Sirhan will go on trial before a jury Nov. 1 — four days before the man he is accused of slaying might have been elected 37th president of the United States.

Sirhan, guarded by the tightest security precautions in the history of Southland jurisprudence, Friday denied resolutely the assassination-murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

His voice loud, its tone clear, the diminutive Jordanian immigrant answered promptly the question by Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Robert Schauer.

"How do you plead?" asked the judge near the end of Friday's brief preliminary hearing.

"Not guilty!" declared Sirhan.

FRIDAY'S hearing also saw the defeat of a move to ban, or ease, stringent court-ordered restrictions on statements by persons closely associated with the case, ensuring a continuation of the wave of rumor and speculation that has surrounded the early weeks of the proceedings.

Sirhan entered the courtroom promptly at 9 a.m., smiled confidently at the crowd — which included his mother and three brothers — and then took his place at the defendant's table where his lawyer, Russell Parsons, joined him.

A dozen deputy sheriffs lined the makeshift courtroom — a veritable fortress constructed on the 13th floor of the L.A. Hall of Justice — for about two hours prior to the hearing. All spectators and newsmen in attendance were searched meticulously before being led to the courtroom.

SIRHAN seemed in full control of himself, as opposed to his sometimes confused conduct in earlier appearances, and answered each of Judge Schauer's questions quickly and clearly.

He said he understood he was waiving his right to a speedy trial and said he would "waive that right" in asking for the Nov. 1 jury inspection of the case against him.

Attorney Parsons has explained that he needs time to conduct interviews with people from "the old country" in order to determine what might have influenced the actions of the 25-year-old former race-track exercise boy.

Judge Schauer did not name a court or a trial judge at Friday's session, saying he would announce those determinations on Oct. 4.

SIRHAN also pleaded innocent Friday to charges of assault with intent to commit murder against five other persons, all wounded by the fusillade of bullets which the gunman sprayed throughout an auxiliary kitchen at the Ambassador Hotel on June 5.

There were two surprises in Friday's hearing.

Parsons did not name a second attorney to work on Sirhan's defense, although he might amend the plea he would announce one "soon." And Sirhan's plea of innocence was not accompanied by the customary "not guilty by reason of insanity."

Parsons said, however, he might amend the pleadings later to contain that provision.

DIST. Atty. Evelle J. Younger's petition to have the court's ban on statements pertaining to the case by principals revoked, was summarily rejected by Judge Schauer.

The district attorney said he was making the plea in the interests of free speech, and quoted from the First Amendment to the Constitution in contending the court's orders regarding the public. Younger asked such statements abridged the free speech rights of the judge to revoke the ban, or at least modify it.

But the plea, opposed by both Parsons and American Civil Liberties Union lawyer A. L. Wirin—who has called himself a "friend of the court"—was refused by Judge Schauer.

The jurist had previously modified portions of an earlier ruling which forbade conversation on the case by persons connected with it in any way whatever.

Marine Clerks OK 'Best' Pact

By GEORGE LAINE Staff Writer

Labor peace returned to the Long Beach waterfront Friday after members of Marine Clerks Local 62 voted to accept a three-year contract offered by three major harbor terminal companies.

Bethlehem Shipyard workers, meanwhile, disclosed terms of their new three-year pact, called the best in the union's history.

Officials of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, Local 9, said they expect to obtain a similar agreement from California Shipbuilding Corp. when negotiations with the third of the harbor's "Big Three" shipyards are scheduled to begin. Todd Shipyard reached agreement with the union on Tuesday.

The Local 63 strike against Marine Terminals, States Marine Lines and Argonaut Terminals, had shut down all operations at terminals operated by the firms, except for the huge U.S. Army terminal which Marine operates.

Jim Jackson, president of the local, said the contract carries a new dental-care plan, one additional holiday and numerous fringe benefits, in addition to "substantial" wage increases.

Bethlehem's contract, according to Local 9 President Charley Franklin, includes pay raises totaling 70 cents over three years, a new overtime schedule plus a minimum of four hours work on any "call-in" job, premium pay for certain job categories, a five-year seniority return clause and full jury equivalency pay.

Franklin said some of the pay raises would amount to as much as 58 cents an hour for helpers.

DETAILS

The Mystery Pirate will hide the Sea Festival Treasure Chest somewhere along the beach in Long Beach (on public property). On Sunday, August 4, the first clue as to the chest's location will be published in the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram. Clues will appear daily in both the Independent, and Press-Telegram. The 12th and final clue will run August 10th. Clues will be written so that all treasure hunters will be led closer and closer to the hiding place. First person finding the chest will be the winner, claiming one of three cash prizes listed above.

- RULES
- * Anyone eligible to enter except employees of the Independent, Press-Telegram and Orange County Evening News; members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Long Beach Sea Festival.
 - * Fresh clues will be published separately in the Independent and Press-Telegram starting August 4. Duplicate printed clues available without charge at the J. P.T. Customer Service Desk, 604 Pine, Long Beach.
 - * The finder of the Sea Festival Treasure Chest may exchange it for any of the cash prizes listed above (depending upon qualification). A bonus prize winner must be wearing his (her) Lucky Button at time of treasure chest discovery and receipt of reward.
 - * If the treasure is not found by 6 p.m., Saturday, August 10, 1968, the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, the International Sea Festival and the Independent, Press-Telegram reserve the right to terminate the Hunt and donate the prize money to charity.
 - * "First person finding the treasure" will be adjudged to be that treasure hunter whose hands first touch the chest. Finder must not tamper with the chest. It should be delivered intact to a representative of the Long Beach Jr. Chamber of Commerce by calling this 24-hr. special number: HE 7-3510.
 - * If more than one person is involved with the finding, as a "search partner", the cash prize won may be shared to the co-finders' mutual satisfaction. No duplicate prizes will be awarded by the Sea Festival, Junior Chamber of Commerce or the Independent, Press-Telegram.
- LUCKY BUTTON WITH GOLD STAR may be obtained at a select group of merchants in the Greater Long Beach Area through August 5, 1968. Purchase of one of these buttons for $1.00 automatically enters the $500.00 Prize for the Treasure Hunter. If he wears it and finds the chest, names of merchants selling buttons will be listed regularly in the Independent, Press-Telegram.
- LUCKY BUTTON WITHOUT GOLD STAR may be purchased from members of the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce only between August 5, and 6 P.M., August 10, or until the treasure is found during that period of time. Purchase of this button for $1.00 will automatically double the basic prize money of $500 for the button owner.
- NO BUTTON AT ALL means that you still win $500 if you find the Sea Festival Treasure Chest. Anyone can play!

Details regularly in the Independent, Press-Telegram. Clues begin Aug. 4

Three Steel Firms Defy LBJ, Increase Prices

PITTSBURGH—A Two of the nation's top steelmakers and a big specialty steel producer announced price increases

Friday, defying President Johnson's plea to hold the line on steel prices. The price boosts came only hours after the President said in Washington he was sure there "will be additional action" in the steel situation.

National Steel Corp., the No. 4 producer, made selective price increases on tin mill products material used in canmaking, and Crucible Steel Corp., a specialty producer, announced selective price boosts on certain stainless steel bar products made at its Syracuse, N.Y., Works.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., the No. 5 steelmaker, announced price boosts on selected steel mill products and said it was studying further its cost-price relationship of tin mill products, alloy and stainless products.

THE INCREASES by National and J. & L. were their first since the United Steelworkers won a billion-dollar plus contract Tuesday. They joined the country's top three steel producers — U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Republic Steel Corp. — in boosting prices.

Only Thursday, Johnson ordered the Defense Department to buy steel from companies that hold the line on prices in an effort to curb an across-the-board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President was expected to stay in Texas for perhaps a month, returning to Washington when Congress reconvenes following the political conventions. The White House said earlier that Johnson told Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley that he would not attend the Democratic National Convention in Daley's hometown.

Johnson later flew to Texas. He was accompanied by Clark M. Clifford, secretary of defense, and Joseph Califano Jr., his principal staff adviser on domestic affairs. He said they would discuss the steel situation.

Charles M. Beeghly, J. & L. chairman, said, "Our position at this time allows no alternative in view of the increased labor costs incurred by the new labor contract and increases in the cost of purchased goods and services."

Because the administration has publicly questioned price increases we have made known to them the necessity for the action we are taking," he said.

J. & L. DECLINED to say what volume of its shipments was affected by the price boost, effective Aug. 10.

National said it was changing the base prices of tin mill products, leaving some prices unchanged while increasing or reducing other prices. It declined to elaborate on the hike, effective Oct. 16.

Crucible said it was increasing the price for the major portion of its stainless grades, but was not increasing the cost of four of its eight high volume grades.

It said the recent contract won by the United Steelworkers was "being studied and appropriate revisions will be announced in the very near future."

He had little direct comment on GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan's recent trips into the South, in which the California governor appealed to Republicans to oppose the Wallace movement.

"We're glad to have any governor of any state visit us," Wallace said.

He added "It's hard to say" whether the Reagan visits, including talks with the Alabama delegation to the Republican National Convention, damaged his own chances of carrying the South.

Manila's Quake Agony Continues

MANILA, Saturday (UPI) — An army of more than 500 rescue workers including bulldozers and bare hands throughout the night and into this morning in the rubble of a five-story apartment house, spurred by the moans of survivors of an earthquake.

As dawn broke, the number of dead mounted and the cries of survivors became less frequent. Rescue teams tried to get pain-killing drugs to those trapped but still alive.

Rescue officials said 72 bodies had been removed from the rubble and debris of the collapsed Ruby Towers apartment building in the old section of the Philippines capital. But officials said the final death toll might go to 400.

MORE than 250 survivors had been rescued from the predominantly Chinese-inhabited building in the Santa Cruz district, but virtually all of them were injured.

The earthquake shocked Manila before dawn Friday and trapped hundreds of persons in the collapse of the apartment building. Seven other persons were killed in other sections of Manila and hundreds were injured.

The rescue workers sent out appeals for more volunteers, doctors, food, medicine and pain-killers. Imelda Marcos, wife of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, spent the night at the scene.

Factions No Concern to Wallace

Wallace is scheduled to address Saturday what his Alabama aides consider the real party convention at a motel outside town.

ASKED about the party's internal problems in California, Wallace said, "Have you never heard any discussion among national Democrats or national Republicans?"

Wallace said he wouldn't side with either group both of which firmly back the former Alabama governor and his third party presidential campaign.

"I'm just running for the presidency" he said.

He had little direct comment on GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan's recent trips into the South, in which the California governor appealed to Republicans to oppose the Wallace movement.

"We're glad to have any governor of any state visit us," Wallace said.

He added "It's hard to say" whether the Reagan visits, including talks with the Alabama delegation to the Republican National Convention, damaged his own chances of carrying the South.

and shortly after dawn told a national television and radio audience:

"I understand there are still a lot of people in there crying for help. I refuse to go home knowing that the voices of the people will haunt me in my sleep."

U.S. NAVY men joined Philippine soldiers, sailors, policemen, firemen, Boy Scouts and others in the hand-to-hand clearing of the rubble to save trapped victims.

Mayor Antonio Villegas made an urgent radio appeal for volunteers, digging tools, oxygen for acetylene torches, hot drinks and food. He made a special appeal for drugs, especially pain-killers.

Fatalities were apparently limited to the Manila area, and no major damage was reported at any of the big American military installations in the Philippines, including Clark Air Force Base and Subic Bay Naval Station.

Earthquake in Mexico Kills Seven

Combined News Services MEXICO CITY — Police Friday night said seven persons were killed and more than 1,000 injured in the earthquake that hit this city Friday.

Mexico City buildings were badly damaged and aftershocks rocked the area at least nine times during the four and one half hour period immediately following the initial quake.

In the interior, which was also rocked, one person was reported dead, and 27 were injured in the town of Pinolepa Nacional on the Pacific coast, 250 miles south of Mexico City.

In Mexico City the quake spared the installation already built or under this fall's Olympic Games, a spokesman for the Mexican Olympic Organizing Committee said.

The first movement of the 7.2-second quake hit the city at 8:07 a.m. and was rated by Mexican seismologists at 7 on the Mercalli scale of 12.

$300-Million Suit Against Nixon Filed

(Continued from Page A-1) stunt. The law firm has not even been served in the case. The only way the individuals involved knew about the suit was through news reports.

"The completely political nature of the story is demonstrated further by the fact that neither Mr. Nixon nor I were even connected with the law firm at the time of the purported events referred to in the news accounts."

LAST-DAY FLURRY

Congress Takes a Month Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress shunned controversial issues in its final session Friday and busied itself with a flurry of action on minor legislation before beginning a month-long recess for the political conventions.

Still hanging before the lawmakers when they return Sept. 4 will be the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States and the controversy on gun control.

Also still to be considered is the $1.96-billion foreign aid authorization bill which got delayed in a 110 U.S.-Senate conference committee over a relatively minor issue.

CONGRESS avoided a last-minute snag when House members decided not to get embroiled at this time in a squabble over how badly senators need additional office space.

A measure which would have authorized expenditure of $1.2 million to acquire land for more Senate office space was shunted aside.

The Senate wants to build an addition to its new office building, saying the need for more room for senators, their staffs and committee staffs has long passed the critical point.

Rep. Kenneth Gray, D-Ill., said the Senate recognized the nation's fiscal problems by deferring construction to some future date but was anxious to buy the site before prices skyrocketed.

BUT most of his colleagues agreed with Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, who argued for deferring action "in view of the nation's financial crisis."

In other action: —Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., blocked farm-bloc efforts to complete congressional action on the farm support bill and food stamp program.

—The Senate passed and sent to the White House a proposal authorizing $1.17 billion for training nurses and other health personnel through 1971 in efforts to ease the nation's shortage of doctors, dentists and nurses.

—Congress gave final approval to expenditure of $540 million for District of Columbia operations during the year ending next June 30.

—The Senate passed a bill which would pay U.S. fishing boat owners for loss due to seizure by foreign nations.

Czechs Confront 'Accusers'

Bratislava meetings last only one day as the Czechoslovaks have announced, or whether it drags on into another marathon session like the talks with the Soviets.

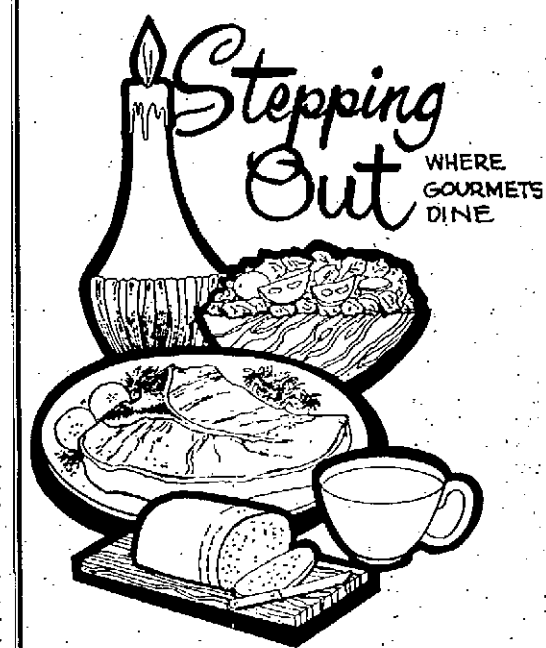

A ONE DAY meeting, it is thought, would merely ratify decisions already reached at Cierna Nad Tisou with the Russians.

A prolonged get-together, western diplomats say, would mean Dubcek and the other Czechoslovak leaders are having to stand up to a full-scale attack by the whole hard-core Communist bloc.

While little emerged publicly from the first meeting, Western experts interpret it as something of a standoff, although Dubcek apparently had to make important concessions.

It is thought here he had to agree to continued presence of Soviet troops on Czechoslovak territory — probably those who remained behind after the earlier Warsaw Pact maneuvers—in exchange for a Soviet pledge not to interfere actively for the time being with the internal reform measures.

But the real decision appears to have been postponed — whether a Communist nation like Czechoslovakia is to be allowed to carry on its own internal political development without interference from the others.

Pollster Probe Looms in Congress to the extremes, thereby accentuating differences between the Gallup and Harris polls," Nedzi said in a statement.

SEN. GEORGE A. Smathers, D-Fla., another opponent of the polls, issued a statement urging political parties and newspapers and television to de-emphasize the public release of political polls.

"They are tending to distort an already difficult political climate," Smathers said, adding that "we ought to let the people, not the pollsters, decide."

He said he has "never known anyone who has ever been polled by Gallup, Harris or any other poll and I am personally baffled that two rival pollsters this week could publish diametrically opposed findings on leading presidential aspirants."

Nedzi's bill, which has been sponsored by about 60 members, would require the authors of published polls to disclose the back-up data for the survey, such as the size of the sample, when the poll was taken and who commissioned it.

The measure would also provide criminal penalties if it was found that the poll was manipulated or its results falsified.

BRAVO'S BIRTHPLACE DISPUTED Shootout Over Hero Kills 11

TLACOTEPEC, Mexico (UPI) — Eleven men were killed in a shootout brought on by a dispute over the birthplace of the Mexican hero they had gathered to honor.

Farmers from Guerrero State had converged on this jungle community Thursday for the unveiling of a statue of the state's biggest hero, Nicolas Bravo, who gained fame in Mexico's war of independence and later served as the country's president.

All was gaiety and peace until a group from nearby El Llano said Bravo was born in their village. This claim was hotly contested by a group from Chichilco, who said the hero was from their village.

Guns were drawn to settle the argument. When the smoke cleared, 11 men were dead and five others were wounded.

There were no arrests. The town has no policeman.

As it turned out, neither El Llano nor Chichilco can claim Bravo. The Mexican historical encyclopedia says he was born in Chilpancingo, the state capital.

Plane Hit Trees and She Thought: 'This Is The End'

VARESE, Italy (AP) — "All I could see was trees coming through the airplane and I thought, 'This is the end,'" said an American survivor of the Alitalia jetliner crash Friday. Eight-two of the 95 persons aboard survived.

Mrs. Diane Gotthell, 36, was on the plane with her husband, Prof. Fred Gotthell, 36, who teaches economics at the University of Illinois at Urbana, and their 2-year-old daughter, Lisa.

Mrs. Gotthell spoke from her bed at the hospital in this north Italian town near the crash site.

"I wasn't hurt at all," she said. "Just bruises on the body. Lisa wasn't hurt either. Fred is in good condition. He suffered a fracture of just one vertebrae in his back. He'll be out of here tomorrow."

The Gotthells were returning home by way of Rome and Canada after a six-month stay in Israel. The plane flew into a violent storm as it approached Milan for a landing.

"All I know," said Mrs. Gotthell, "is that we were suddenly in very bad weather. We were plunging up and down as I never have on an airplane trip."

"We had been told to fasten our seat belts and nobody was thrown out of their seats but it was so violent I kept thinking 'why are they trying to land in Milan in this weather?'"

She added: "All I could see was trees coming through the airplane and I thought, 'This is the end.' We were sitting next to the emergency door in the middle of the plane. I turned the handle and, thank God, it worked. Other people were jumping out. When I saw the cracks I knew it was serious."

"I'm afraid I was very selfish. All I could think about was my husband and my baby. Everybody knew they had to get away from the plane as soon as possible in case it blew up, so we all started running through the woods in the fog."

"There was a group of about 10 people. And it was wonderful — really wonderful — how everybody stuck together. There was a woman from Israel and she gave me her shoes because I had lost mine on the plane and I was carrying the baby."

"We must have walked for about 20 minutes when we came to a clearing and then a road. A car with some people came by and because we had the baby everyone made us get in to be driven to town."

The bodies of 12 persons were recovered from burned-out sections of the plane. One passenger was listed as missing.

The flight — Alitalia 66 — was bound from Rome to Montreal, via Milan.

Heavy thunderstorms made the day nearly as black as night as the big jet with the red, green and white tail swerved downward.

The control tower reported it lost contact with the plane at 4:08 p.m. Seventeen minutes later it had crashed and was burning six miles north of the airport, which is 36 miles northwest of Milan.

Airline officials said reports from survivors and the pilot, Radio Staffere, 59, indicated that the craft was caught in a downdraft when it was about 600 feet off the ground. The plane hit the side of Monte San Giacomo, about six miles short of the runway.

"It wasn't really a violent impact," said Franco Colombo, 44, a passenger who lives in Milan. "The airplane didn't break up into pieces, but the motors caught fire and the flames enveloped almost the whole plane."

"By that time, however, many of the passengers had already managed to get down and get away," he said.

The weather was described as the worst in the vicinity of the airport in years.

The crash was the first of a commercial plane in Italy since a Trans World Airlines jet crashed taking off from Rome on Nov. 23, 1964, with a loss of 48 lives.

6 Perish in Crash of 2 Light Planes

ROCK RIVER, Wyo. (UPI) — The bodies of six persons, three of them children, were found Friday amid wreckage of two light planes that crashed west of Rock River from what officials indicated could have been an inflight collision.

The wreckage of the planes, a quarter of a mile apart, was reached by sheriff's deputies and Civil Air Patrol volunteers after the debris scattered over a wide area was sighted.

The Albany County sheriff's office said there were no survivors.

Deputies were sent to the site after an employee of the Union Pacific Railroad saw the wreckage on his way to work Friday.

One of the planes, a Cessna 205, was piloted by Earl Jamison of Las Vegas, Nev., and was believed to be carrying the children. The plane disappeared Thursday on a flight from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Rangely, Colo.

The second plane, a yellow and white Bonanza, carried two New Jersey residents on a flight from Denver to Jackson, Wyo. The plane was last heard from over Laramie, Wyo., Thursday.

CAP pilot Del Kolb said in Laramie the position of the two crashed planes would indicate they collided in flight.

One of the passengers on the New Jersey plane was identified only as "Nagley" of Somerset, N.J. The other passenger was not identified.

Find Nine Bodies in AF Plane Crash

RED BLUFF (AP) — An Air Force rescue team reported Friday they have found the bodies of all nine airmen aboard a KC135 Stratotanker which crashed Tuesday in foothills east of Red Bluff.

Officials at Beale Air Force Base near Marysville also identified two bodies found earlier as Lt. Col. Glen H. Rolfe, 42, of Winston, and Sgt. David W. Decante of Merced.

Identification of the ninth body found most recently was not immediately announced.

The jet tanker crashed and burned southwest of Mt. Lassen while on a training flight. The burning wreckage touched off a forest fire, which has been brought under control.

Marine Copter in Successful 'Soft' Landing

A Marine Corps transport helicopter made a successful soft landing in the Griffith Park area Friday after developing engine trouble.

The helicopter, a Sikorsky CH-53, was en route from El Toro Marine Base to Lemoore Air Station in Fresno when trouble developed in the gear box. The pilot, Marine Aircraft Cmdr. Ted Huss, made the forced landing on Forest Lawn Drive.

There were five passengers aboard, including two Marines. No one was injured.

Pleasurable Program in Bowl

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critics

On a balmy summer's night, with a quarter-moon (and even a few stars!) lighting the sky, and some suitably atmospheric music coming out of the shell, Hollywood Bowl can seem one of the more romantic spots on earth.

This illusory image does not appear as often as we remember it once did, but occasionally the old magic takes effect.

Thursday night it happened, at the end of this season's fourth week of "Symphonies Under The Stars." Victor Alessandro, the Texas-born, American-trained director of the San Antonio Symphony, was on the podium. The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra was in fine form. And in the soloists' spot, that popular family of guitarists, the four Romeros, did their thing for the pleasure of everyone present.

On paper, the scheduled program was unimpressive and awfully pop-oriented for a Thursday: Glinka's Overture to "Russian and Ludmilla," the Second Symphony of Rachmaninoff, concertos for two and four guitars by Vivaldi and Rodrigo, respectively.

But in the manner of its execution, the combined participants may have achieved one of the more pleasant evenings of this summer.

What was least exciting were the concertos. Perhaps we can blame the composers, perhaps not. Very few listeners will ever accuse Vivaldi of writing music that does more than just go along, or Rodrigo of producing works that are not ultraconventional, pleasant and bland. Yet past experience tells us that music by these composers can be illuminating and satisfying events.

The Romeros, as we have said before, are highly competent and well-equipped musicians, though not always the sort who raise temperatures with their performances. I suppose they did justice to the G Major Concerto and the recently introduced (by them) "Concierto Andaluz," but they might have done more in the way of articulation, general propulsion and dynamic contrasts. In their defense, one must report that, as I fled, they were playing a batch of encores.

About Alessandro's first half, one can have few reservations. Rachmaninoff's taut, gorgeous Second Symphony may be obsolescent in some quarters, but it sounded vital and irrepressible in the clean, directional reading this conductor drew from the cooperative Philharmonic. So did Glinka's familiar Overture, which emerged as one of the crisper, more rousing curtain-raisers the Bowl has heard in some time.

Nab Indian Sailor in Opium Smuggling

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Customs agents seized almost seven pounds of opium, worth an estimated $3 million on the black market, aboard the Indian ship State of Punjab in Baltimore harbor Friday.

Agents also arrested one of the crewmen, Abdul J. Mofizul, 30, of Calcutta. They said he was negotiating sale of the narcotic to an undercover agent, and charged him with unlawfully bringing opium into the United States.

GOP Liberals Win Plank Promising City-Crisis Action

By JOHN W. FINNEY
New York Times Service

MIAMI BEACH — The Republican Platform Committee approved Friday a liberal urban plan committing the Republican Party to a new government-industry approach toward resolving "the crisis of the cities."

The plank pledges new efforts, new energies to solve urban problems, ranging from housing to mass transit, from ghetto unemployment to air and water pollution.

While liberal in tone, the plank is not too specific in its recommendations. It accepts the requirement of federal action, but lays considerable stress on enlisting private industry in providing jobs and housing in the ghettos.

TO ACHIEVE this government-industry partnership in attacking urban problems, the plank proposes economic incentives, such as tax credits, to attract private capital and investment in the ghettos.

Out maneuvered and outnumbered on the urban plank, a vocal Southern conservative bloc sought to stiffen a moderately worded plank on crime and violence.

As presented to the full platform committee, the proposed plank on crime and violence would stress that the law should be obeyed but at the same time point out that steps should be taken to eliminate the causes of crime and violence. Throughout a day of haggling over amendments, conservatives sought to lay heavier stress on the need for forceful government steps to put down violence and re-establish law and order.

THE URBAN and crime planks reflect the ideological split developing within Republican ranks over the direction the party should move on domestic issues. On the crime issue, with the active encouragement of Richard M. Nixon, the party appears to be moving toward a right-of-center position. But on social welfare issues, under pressure from liberals and with the acquiescence of Nixon, the party is moving toward a moderate-to-liberal position.

The urban plan was the first to be adopted by the 102-man platform committee as it moved tediously and with some dissension toward the writing of a party platform to be presented to the convention Tuesday.

The committee's closed-door discussion in the Hotel Fontainebleau's Voltaire Room was more often about semantics than substance and dragged on at such a slow pace that, after an evening and long day of debate only one fourth of the platform had been considered.

THE committee members, for example, quarreled for seven minutes over whether the platform should read "we all" or "all of us" and then for another 30 minutes over whether "A" should be regarded as a prefix or a word.

As the discussion dragged on, the platform grew — at latest count it was more than 10,000 words — to the point where Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen despaired of presenting a relatively brief, "pungent" platform to the convention or of completing the drafting work by today.

Faced with the quibbling mood in the committee, Dirksen's evident tactic was to let the members tire themselves out with talk and then reassert his leadership in pushing a moderately worded platform through the committee.

AS HE confided to an aide discouraged over the slow pace of the discussions: "I have found over the decades that weariness is a wonderful weapon."

The pace was further slowed by a series of amendments from conservative forces seeking to modify moderate-to-liberal domestic planks drafted by Dirksen and his nine-man executive committee.

On the urban plank, however, liberals believed they have scored a victory despite the acceptance of some weakening amendments offered by conservatives.

CONSERVATIVES succeeded in beating down a proposal that the Johnson administration be criticized for ignoring recommendations of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. The proposal, sponsored by Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, would have pledged that the Republican Party would pay close attention to the commission's recommendations for ending America's racially divided society.

One of the commission's recommendations, now being incorporated in the Republican platform, was for tax credits to attract private capital into the slums. This tax-credit approach was opposed by the Johnson administration when it was advanced by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Charles E. Percy, R-Ill., to encourage private firms to join in the war on poverty.

Conservatives also beat down a proposal by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York that the platform pledge the nation to a "huge new burst of energy" in solving urban problems — phrase first suggested by John W. Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare in the Johnson administration and now chairman of the Urban Coalition. To conservatives, such a phrase represented too much of an open-ended commitment.

LIBERALS succeeded, however, in entitling the urban plank "Crisis of the Cities" — a name sponsored by Javits. To liberals, the name — as well as the tone of the plank — is of symbolic importance in reflecting a recognition on the part of the Republican Party that a crisis exists in the cities and the party is committed to do something about resolving the crisis.

With domestic issues out of the way, major fights were expected to develop over the trade plank, which at this point has a strongly protectionist tone, and over the Vietnam issue.

In the past few days, according to committee members, the draft Vietnam plank has been stiffened to place the Republican Party on record in support of the American commitment in Southeast Asia. The fight will be led by the Rockefeller forces, Javits and Rep. Peter Freylinghausen of New Jersey — all of whom are preparing substitute planks committing the party to achieve a negotiated settlement.

BIG STOMPER AT CONVENTION

"Baby Anna," 750-pound elephant from Anaheim, was greeted by a bevy of other Richard F. Nixon backers Friday as she arrived at Miami International Airport. 7 Northeast States, 251 Votes Strong, Back Rocky MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — After a week of public opinion polls, delegates now pouring into Miami Beach for the Republican National Convention had their own say Friday, and some of it was good news for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

GOP state chairmen from the populous Northeast endorsed the New York governor by a 7-1 vote as the party's best hope of winning big in November and uniting the country. The seven states for him represent 251 delegate votes.

There was evidence, too, of stiffening determination in New Jersey for Sen. Clifford P. Case to stand fast as his state's favorite son, a position that could boost Rockefeller's chances of defeating Richard M. Nixon, a first-ballot presidential nomination next Wednesday.

AFTER A series of regional meetings of state party chairmen, Peter O'Donnell of Texas reported that leaders from the 11 southern states and Kentucky generally believed Nixon would run best in their states.

He estimated that the southern bloc probably would deliver 259 first-ballot votes for Nixon, 59 for Gov. Reagan of California and 16 for Rockefeller.

Of the 1,333 GOP delegate votes, 667 are needed to nominate. Nixon strategists remained confident the former vice president had more than enough delegate supporters to win, and added that a southerner would figure in Nixon's consideration of a vice presidential running mate.

Neither the southern nor the western contingent of Republican chairmen voted their preferences. But George W. Abbott of Nevada, head of the 13-state western group, reported it was divided evenly whether Nixon could win or would fall short of a first-ballot victory.

THE convention's choice could become clearer during the weekend, when state delegations will meet for the first time in Miami Beach in advance of the opening session on Monday.

Keys among the present favorite son delegations are Michigan, Ohio and Maryland. Rockefeller forces were fighting to add New Jersey, with 40 delegate votes, to the list and make it stick.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland arrived and said he was "absolutely uncommitted" between Nixon and Rockefeller. He said he would meet soon with Govs. George Romney of Michigan and James Rhodes of Ohio, the other big fence-sitters.

Sen. Chase, who once accepted his favorite son role reluctantly, is now reported to be eager to keep the delegation united and uncommitted.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said Friday the odds are against his winning the Republican presidential nomination. "The possibility exists, if there is a deadlock, but it certainly is a longshot," the Republican governor and favorite son candidate told newsmen.

BEFORE THE New Jersey delegates came to town, it appeared 35 of them would vote for their favorite son and five would go to Nixon in any event. The delegation is not legally bound to support Case, and if it breaks on the first ballot, UPI observers in Trenton say 26 votes probably would go to Rockefeller, 13 to Nixon and 1 to Reagan.

The delegation will huddle Sunday to decide its position.

The northeast chairmen who voted for Rockefeller were from Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, Maine, Maryland and the District of Columbia. Delaware opposed the pro-Rockefeller resolution, and Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey abstained.

The Reagan candidacy for the presidential nomination went further into the open Friday when James W. Halley, a San Francisco lawyer and GOP chairman for California, announced he would be the governor's floor manager at the convention.

McCarthy Boosters Plan Rally

Local McCarthy for President supporters plan to move a car caravan through downtown Long Beach Monday.

According to Jerry Berens, caravan organizer, the cars will leave the Long Beach McCarthy headquarters, at 641 E. Wardlow Rd., and proceed down Atlantic Avenue.

A rally at the Long Beach Arena will conclude the caravan, Berens said.

Local Delegates State Sen. George Deukmejian is one of two Long Beach residents in the 86-member California delegation pledged to Gov. Ronald Reagan at the GOP National Convention in Miami. The other is Ann Bowler, of 177 Rivo Alto Canal.

Theater Party The Long Beach Suburban Republican Couples Group has invited the public to an Aug. 11 post-convention theater party at the Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St.

A reception is scheduled to precede the benefit performance of the family fun play, "The Happiest Millionaire."

The GOP group has set a donation of $2.50 for the Sunday social hour and performance.

TO PUSH CAMPAIGN

Cranston Quits Demo Delegation

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

Alan Cranston, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, resigned from the California Democratic convention delegation Friday to devote "every bit of my time and energy to my campaign."

Cranston told a Santa Ana news conference he had asked Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, chairman of the 172-man delegation, for a replacement to attend the Chicago convention.

The former state controller said he would not endorse any candidate for the presidential nomination at this time, but would support the Democratic nominee, "whoever he is."

CRANSTON, who opposes Republican Max Rafferty for the Senate seat now held by Thomas Kuchel, said he "would have no problems working with Sen. George Murphy" if elected.

He said California would be better off with senators from both political parties representing the state.

Cranston told newsmen he had changed his views on many issues "to keep pace with events."

Cranston, founding father of the California Democratic Council, said he is disenchanted with the organization — which didn't support him in the primary due to differences over the Vietnam war and state issues.

He said he now objects to property taxes, because "they are approaching the outer limits of the people's ability to pay," and said federal aid to schools should be with "no strings attached" to guarantee local control.

He said he'd "do away with welfare as it now exists" in favor of "guaranteed jobs but not guaranteed annual income."

CRANSTON charged Rafferty favors answering violence with more violence.

"I favor law and order, plus job opportunities," he said. He added, however, that he condones violence by police if it is necessary to enforce the law.

ALAN CRANSTON
Has 'Changed Views'

Cranston said he favors compulsory registration of firearms, contending this would "effectively control" the illegal use of weapons. But, he said, he opposes controls which would deprive citizens of their right to have weapons.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY

Your birthday today! All year you will try to make counts and to go in some new direction. Disorganize your life now, since whatever you do get rid of it this year will have on. Your nature is generally lucky in all material matters, and are warm-hearted and open-handed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You are not to find today's plans confused and hazy. See that your share of the community life is adequate.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Your home for once is not completely comfortable. Spend the day outside. Then in the evening seek entertainment most enjoyable to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The more you involve yourself today, the more complicated things get. Do your normal spiritual devotions, then rest or study. Take anything you hear today with a grain of salt.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Your own sensitivity is matched by the tensions of others. See that your share of the community life is adequate.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22): Though subtle to some counts and to go in some new direction. Disorganize your life now, since whatever you do get rid of it this year will have on. Your nature is generally lucky in all material matters, and are warm-hearted and open-handed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Family partnerships and pines are indicated for today. Your church also needs your support. Think about where life is leading and what you have learned from recent experiences.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Remain calm. Others are easily provoked today. People may give you a fraction of the whole picture; allow for considerable error.

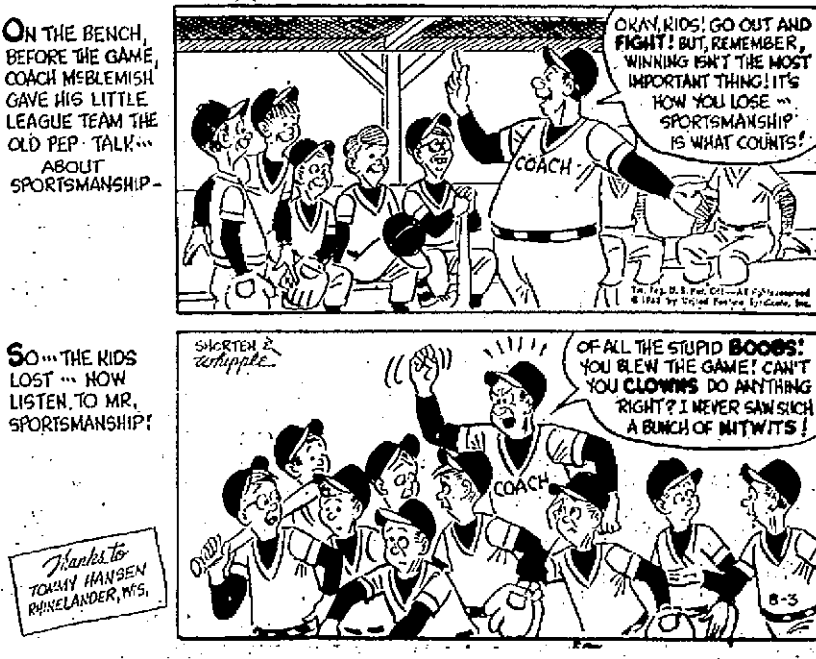

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Watch and wait. Your share of the community life today will be a little better than for granted. Do not let things just well to a point.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The high side of the low side could be deceptive. People either do not realize what they are or intentionally with a grain of salt.

J. Alton Lauren, arrested in Monee, Ill., is charged with one count of conspiracy, and five counts of grand theft.

He indicated he will waive extradition for arraignment, Orange County officials said.

The arrests brings to seven the number nabbed under the true bill voted July 24, accusing nine men on varied counts of conspiracy to commit grand theft, and with grand theft. They are accused of bilking at least five persons of almost $20,000 in connection with the estate trusts. The indictment charges

Save Man in Sewer, Kin Dies

A Wilmington construction worker was in good condition late Friday after collapsing in a 13-foot-deep manhole while trying unsuccessfully to rescue his dying brother-in-law.

County firemen pulled Lorenzo Chacon, 35, of 1223 G St., from a sewer at 220th Street and Grace Avenue in Carson. He was treated at Harbor General Hospital and admitted.

Rescuers also pulled out his brother-in-law, Raul Solis, 38, of the same address, who was dead on arrival at the hospital.

The two men were part of a construction crew working on a water pipe.

Solis, alone at the bottom of the sewer, yelled for help before he was overcome by the fumes.

Chacon climbed down the manhole to rescue him, but collapsed alongside him.

Other workers summoned firemen, and the two were brought to the surface.

Award Atkinson Cabrillo Fish Pier Contract

Construction will begin about Sept. 1 on a fishing pier at Cabrillo Beach in San Pedro, it was reported Friday.

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Parks Department awarded Guy F. Atkinson Co. of Long Beach a $758,133 contract for the project. Also being made available is an additional $244,902 from the Venice oil fund to assure ample monies for the structure.

Construction on the 1,200-foot-long pier, which will be 21 feet wide, of reinforced concrete and have night-fishing facilities, is to require about 360 calendar days, a spokesman for the contractor said.

Intrastate Fund-Loan Costs Cut

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The Assembly Friday approved and sent to the governor legislation which reduces the amount of interest the state pays itself when it borrows from itself.

Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, said his bill would save California taxpayers at least $4 million per year.

He explained that because of cashflow problems, the state's General Fund frequently has to borrow from one of several special funds when it needs cash. The Highway Construction Fund, for example, is a frequent source of loan funds.

In the past, the General Fund paid interest to the fund from which it had borrowed. Under Cullen's bill, the General Fund would be permitted to borrow money interest-free up to a specified ceiling from other state funds.

Vote on the measure was 28 to 0.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Boat Registration Eased by Measure

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Boat owners will be able to register their craft at a convenient Department of Motor Vehicles office along with their boat trailers, under provisions of a bill approved Friday by the Assembly and sent to the governor.

The measure, AB 1808, was introduced by Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, at the request of boat-owner groups. The Assembly vote on the bill was 47 to 0.

"Previously," Thomas said, "a boat owner could register his trailer at the DMV and then have to find out where a Department of Harbors and Watercraft office was so that the boat could be registered there."

In some portions of the state, boat owners would have to travel clear into another county to find an office where ownership of recently purchased boats could be registered.

"Now, they can go to the DMV, if that's convenient, and the Harbors and Watercraft Department will reimburse the DMV for the cost, or they can go to a Harbors and Watercraft agent — whichever is convenient."

The bill provides that a study will be made in two years to determine if any additional changes in registration procedures are needed.

Howling Success for Lynwood Babies

Story and Photos
By HAL LOWE

The Sixth Annual Baby Show Friday at Bateman Hall in Lynwood was considered a howling success by its sponsor, the Recreation and Parks Department.

Almost 300 babies, ranging in age from four days to three years, showed up for the contest and, as the judges pondered their choices for more than an hour, there was hardly a dry eye — or dry anything else — in the house.

The mothers seemed to enjoy most the competitive air of the show. They sat and smiled, or glared at the three judges from the Lynwood Junior Women's Club. They also spent much time getting their offspring groomed.

THE CONTESTANTS themselves viewed the whole thing with seeming boredom. Some sat quietly, sipping on a bottle, while others just cried.

Some, like Roy Cady, age 1, used the waiting time constructively by practicing new tricks, such as somersaults. Others ran around making up their own games.

Prizes were offered in many categories, ranging from the youngest baby to the one born farthest from Lynwood.

When it was all over, recreation officials started making plans for next year's show as the judges quickly departed.

Parents of the losers groused while those of the winners beamed.

The kids just continued to play. To them, it was not whether you win or lose, but the way you play the game.

SOME CONTESTANTS, like youngster at left in picture, thought Lynwood's annual baby show was a crying shame—but youngsters like the somersaulting tot at right found it a great time and place to show off new tricks.

DOWNEY MAN CITED FOR FREEWAY VALOR

Downey businessman Franklin R. Lang, 39, has been honored by the Los Angeles Police Commission for risking his life to rescue two Paramount children from a burning car on the Santa Ana Freeway.

The commission commended Lang, of 7502 E. Fourth Place, for bravery "in the face of grave personal danger."

Last Aug. 28, Lang spotted a burning car on a right shoulder of the freeway. The driver, Mrs. Karen Appel, 22, had been removed from her wrecked vehicle by other motorists.

Lang first helped another passerby in removing Mrs. Appel's 3-year-old son, Victor, from the front seat, then rescued 2-year-old Dianna Appel through the rear window of the blazing auto after unprying the child's foot, wedged behind the seat.

"Mr. Lang's courage and persistence undoubtedly saved Dianna Appel's life," the Police Commission said in its commendation.

Dr. Cooley: Transplants Here to Stay

DR. DENTON A. COOLEY DISCUSSES HEARTS
Next Step May Be Transplants for Infants
—STAFF PHOTO BY ROGER COAK

Medical Field Rates Dr. Cooley 'Supersurgeon'

A widely known professor of surgery was discussing a Time Magazine cover with a Long Beach science writer several years ago.

"Well, that guy on the cover is a pretty good doctor," said the surgery professor, "but the man to watch is Denton Cooley."

Replied the reporter: "Denton who?"

"Denton Arthur Cooley. He's the most promising of all the young men I've seen."

The prediction appears to have been an accurate one.

When Dr. Cooley visited Long Beach Friday, a local internal medicine specialist remarked to a reporter:

"He may well be the greatest surgeon ever."

Friday's edition of Life Magazine put it this way: "Dr. Cooley is probably the most experienced heart surgeon in the world. He has performed more than 4,000 operations, 1,000 of them on tiny infant hearts. Sometimes he completes as many as four complex heart operations in a morning."

IN THE medical field he has long been supersurgeon. He was a member of the pioneer heart surgery team that in 1944 performed the first "blue baby" operations at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

He was among the devel-

Hearing Slated for 'Poor-Box Prowler' Pair

Edward Smith and his wife, Barbara, dubbed the "poor-box prowlers," will have a preliminary hearing Tuesday in Alhambra Municipal Court following their arraignment Friday on burglary charges.

They are held in lieu of $1,875 bail which Judge Peter Smith set for each of them.

Smith, 47, an unemployed painter, was arrested Wednesday in St. Stephens Catholic Church in Monterey Park while allegedly tampering with a collection box.

Mrs. Smith, 37, an unemployed nurse's aide, was acting as a lookout for him, police said. She was also arrested at the scene.

Their 10-year-old son was taken into protective custody by Long Beach juvenile officers after his parents were arrested, and has been placed in a foster home.

Burglars Take $195

Burglars entered the home of Nell Kinsey, 1460 Gaviota Ave., through an unlocked door and made off with $195 in cash, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Medical-Science Editor

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, famed Texas surgeon who has directed eight heart-transplant operations, said Friday such operations are here to stay.

Dr. Cooley, in Long Beach to address a meeting of the American College of Cardiology, asserted heart-transplant surgery should no longer be considered solely a research procedure.

"We have shown that cardiac transplantation has therapeutic value," he said in an interview at Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.

Six of the eight patients operated on by Dr. Cooley's surgical team are still alive and well.

"These people are walking around, free of pain. They're enthusiastic people," the doctor said.

He said he hopes to change the minds of some of those doctors who recently stated in a survey they themselves would never submit to a heart-transplant operation.

"I plan to release next week a photo of those patients who are alive and well," he said, laughing.

"Look," he continued, "a lot of people have a wrong notion about heart transplants. They ask, 'What will he (heart recipient) be like 20 years from now?'"

"Well, when you buy a car you don't expect it to last the rest of your life."

"A heart-transplant is a palliative procedure — not a permanent curative operation. We're trying to prolong life and offer the patient a comfortable and useful life."

He continued:

"Now the indication for this operation is end-stage irreversible heart disease. The patients are desperate people who are going to die in a very short time."

"I've seen six or eight patients die in the hospital — people who had agreed to a transplant. But there was no donor."

"It is the most frustrating experience a physician can have — waiting for a donor."

He said the one attempt to implant a sheep heart in a human was a stop-gap measure, with the surgical team hoping there would be a human donor heart available shortly thereafter.

Dr. Cooley said he's hoping a way will be found to preserve donor hearts for long periods, but gives the impression he thinks such a technique is a long way off.

On the matter of donors, he shows impatience with the attitudes of some persons toward the precise acceptable movement that a heart should be removed from the donor patient.

A lot of people seem to think it important that the heart beat 30 minutes longer when the brain is already dead, he said.

"We're preoccupied with the dead in this country to the neglect of the living," he said with a touch of bitterness.

Dr. Cooley said the mechanical heart, when it finally is developed, will never be a substitute for heart transplantation.

"It may be helpful for a temporary reversible situation — but for chronic support of the heart, well that idea borders on science fiction."

A man with a mechanical heart, he said, would be comparable to "running a car on rails instead of balloon tires."

He said heart-transplants for infants are contemplated. No special problems are foreseen at this time.

"We have two full-grown men now with young people's hearts in them. One has the heart of a 15-year-old girl in him."

Three patients went to a ball game in Houston Thursday night, Dr. Cooley said. One patient has gone to work in a new job.

Dr. Cooley said he plans no modifications, "either major or minor," in his operative technique for heart transplants.

"We hit on a winner in our first case," he said.

Here are two of the key factors in a Cooley procedure:

— Preservation of the donor heart's natural pacemaker — the sino-atrial node, a small mass of bioelectrical cells in the heart's right upper chamber that initiate heart contractions. "To neglect this one point spells disaster," Dr. Cooley asserts.

— Use of a substance, antilymphocyte globulin (ALG), to help reduce the tendency of the body to reject the heart graft. "This must account partially for the uncomplicated recovery of our patients," Dr. Cooley says.

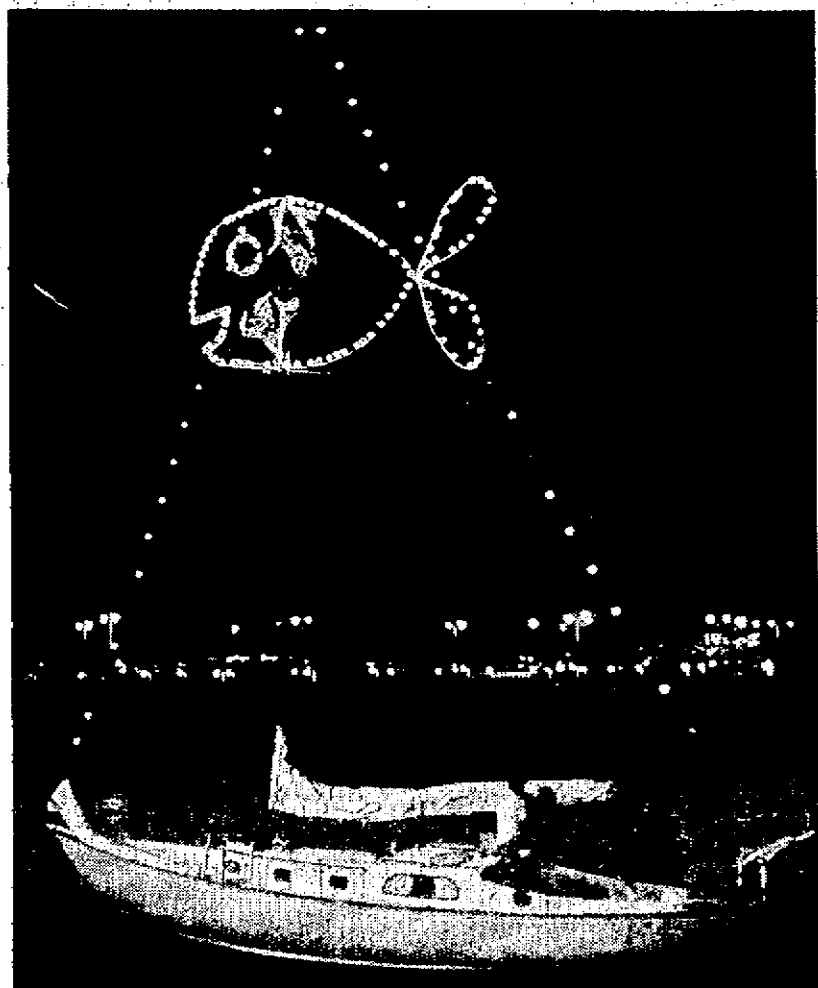

Although Dr. Cooley thinks antilymphocyte globulin, the antirejection substance, is highly important to the success of a transplant, he disclosed it was the undoing of one patient.

"The man died because of reaction to the horse serum," he said. ALG is made in horses. Dr. Cooley is now looking forward to ALG made in humans with the hope adverse reaction will no longer be a threat.

The second failure, he disclosed, occurred because the recipient was already dead when the donor heart was implanted.

L.B. Dignitaries to Attend Beauty Pageant in Tokyo

Mayor Edwin W. Wade and Vice Mayor Robert F. Crow have accepted invitations to attend the 1968 International Beauty Pageant in Tokyo this year.

Their expenses will be paid by the Japan Beauty Congress.

The officials will be accompanied by their wives and possibly by a member of the Long Beach Harbor Commission and wife.

Also scheduled for the trip are Miss Welcome to Long Beach, 20-year-old Karen MacQuarrie, and Miss Kay Matsumoto, a Long Beach resident who served as hostess and interpreter for Japanese contestants when the pageant was held in Long Beach.

The City of Long Beach agreed to let Japan host the pageant this year, said Wade, when it appeared there would be difficulty televising the pageant because of conflicting commitments by the major networks, which are deeply involved in the 1968 election campaign.

Wade and his party will leave Long Beach Sept. 22 and arrive in Tokyo the next day. They are scheduled to make a tour of Japan with the beauty contestants before the pageant begins Oct. 5. The tour will include a round of news conferences, receptions and parades.

The Long Beachers will return after the pageant ends Oct. 10.

Police Investigate Early Morning Firebombing of L.B. Carpet Firm

Fire officials Friday were investigating the early-morning firebombing of a Central Long Beach carpet firm, gutted by a blaze which caused $75,000 damage.

Firemen returning from another call extinguished flames starting to spread in the same building early Thursday.

The Friday fire — ignited by two Molotov cocktails — destroyed Robbins Interior Carpets, 1000 E. Hill St., just three blocks from an auto interior firm which received $90,000 damage from a Wednesday firebombing.

Seven companies under direction of Fire Chief Leonard V. Foster were unable to stop the rapid spread of the flames before the inside of the building was destroyed.

Firemen said one Molotov cocktail had been thrown through a front window, spilling flaming gasoline on carpeting inside. A second firebomb, apparently aimed at the roof, flew into an open working space and caused little damage.

On Wednesday, firebombs heavily damaged the Acme Auto Headlining Co., 2104 Orange Ave., destroying rolls of vinyl used to make auto seat covers,

L.B. Sea Festival to Open Today

By JIM GOODRICH
Staff Writer

Mammoth air-sea fireworks, daredevil stunts and a lighted parade of 100 small boats headline today's 6 p.m. oceanfront opening of the third annual California International Sea Festival in Long Beach.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has proclaimed today through Aug. 11 Sea Festival Week, affirming Long Beach's claim as "Water Sports Capital of the World."

Events slated before the Parade of Lights are:

— Morning qualifying heats at Marine Stadium for speedboats competing in the American Boat Association's National Championships.

— 1 p.m. seamanship competition for Navy small boats (gigs) dockside at the Long Beach Yacht Club.

Nine days of sports contests and frolicking on water begin with today's als to adult participants and 150 dozen T-shirts to competing youngsters.

The schedule for today's spectacular:

6:00 p.m.—National Anthem

6:03—P-51 Flyby

6:05—Formation of P-51s (three)

6:07—Antique Aircraft Flyby (10-12)

Gold-Claim Jumper Gets Off Real Easy

Gilbert Glenn Cornell got himself 90 days in jail Friday.

He may not be too happy about the sentence, but can be grateful he was sentenced in 1968 — not 1849.

In old California, judges used to hang claim-jumpers — unless the miners beat them to it.

The 48-year-old "prospector" — formerly employed by Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park — was charged with appropriating approximately two ounces daily of the gold given him to "salt" the mine so that eager tourists could "strike gold."

Cornell was arrested May 1 after dig-it-digging auditors at Knott's became curious that a man of his meager means could afford a new Cadillac and a $40,000 home in the plush Belhurst section of Buena Park.

Police ascertained that the employee was putting only two ounces of the gold allotted him for "salting" into the mine each day. Another two ounces were being taken home.

The grizzled prospector originally pleaded innocent to the charge, but switched his plea Friday and Judge Howard C. Cameron meted a 1-to-10-year prison sentence — suspended on condition Cornell spend 90 days in jail, three years on probation and make restitution of $10,000 to Knott's.

He was estimated to have taken more than $20,000 in gold during the two years he "jumped" the claim in the tourist diggings, police said.

"It's an expensive way," observed Knott's official Dean Davidson, "to prove to the public that there really is gold in these here hills."

Slum Conditions Talk Scheduled

Mrs. Dale Clinton of Long Beach, whose letter to Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins on slum living conditions won mention in the Congressional Record, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Bach Branch Library, 4055 Bellflower

Bldv., on "How It Is in a U.S. Ghetto."

The event is sponsored by the Long Beach Black-White Dialogue Committee, which noted similar programs are available by writing the group at Long Beach P.O. Box 3513.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Begonias range in size from a dwarf bedding semipiflorens type to several kinds of cane that grow up around four feet tall, and perhaps taller.

Some begonias are fibrous rooted, others are bulbous, still others are rhizomatous type. The showiest flowered are the tuberous begonias. The widest range of handsomely variegated foliage begonias are the rex. Many kinds have interesting foliage shapes and edgings, various tones of green shading into bronze, as well as attractive blossoms in season.

These tropical plants may be grown in areas protected from wind, sun and frost, either grown in the ground or in containers. Some of them may be grown indoors among house plants. Begonias require loamy soil containing organic material with a smaller portion of garden soil mixed in. Finger-firmed soil around the plant root balls saves on frequency of watering. Loosely packed soil means the gardener has to water them more frequently.

SOME nurseries have quite a collection of different types of begonias, while others have a limited choice. Visit a shade show or a begonia society in your locality. Acquaint yourself with the different kinds of begonias. Choose some you like and grow them in your shaded patio or garden area or indoors.

Begonias and other shade plants such as fuchsias, camellias, azaleas and others,

BEGONIA... Wide Variety, Wide Usage

sphagnum peat moss for several years in a row. The lawns actually grew spottily due to the tightly packed non-broken-down peat moss which smothered the dichondra seed. The thatch-like compaction prevented the seeds from growing. Premoistened sphagnum peat moss thoroughly mixed with soil in a flower bed, for setting out shrubs or trees, is all right, because the bacterial soil action breaks down the peat moss into a humus form.

The other top-dressing materials mentioned for the

Get some culture care literature, and next spring plant some dahlias in your garden.

YOU STILL can grow some quick color in your garden by planting some zinnias, petunias, large showy marigolds and asters in sunny areas. There's an easy quick way to plant them so they'll push off and start to grow quickly. Dig the holes for the plants, fill them so they'll push off and with water. Mix a heaping handful of one of the planter mix mulches with the soil. Set out the plants, firm soil around them, scratch a circular furrow into the soil. Slowly water them several times.

Scatter snail-slug bait around the plants to protect them. Snails have a highly developed sense of smell because they are nearsighted. An effective snail bait that has a smell attractant and a quality control base meal draws the snails and slugs.

Thickly matted ground covers such as ivy, trailing lantana, ivy leaf geranium and star jasmine are the choicest areas selected by snails and slugs because of shade, coolness and constant dampness. Scatter the baits in those areas three times at 10-day to two-week intervals for maximum control.

DO IT NOW

WATER: Lawns should be watered at least four inches deep. Don't water again before walking over the lawn. If leafage quickly springs upright after walking on it, don't water yet. Evenly spread a quarter-inch layer of fine organic mulch material over flower beds, soil, also shrubs and trees, that were moistened a day earlier and lightly cultivated. Hose down carefully to soak the mulch and settle it without puddling. The mulch conserves moisture, saves on frequency of watering, prevents soil crusting.

PLANT: Take advantage of nearly 2½ months of hot weather by setting out the shrubs, trees, ground covers, vines, annuals or perennials you've been thinking about. Plants will get a quicker growth start and will gradually become acclimatized in your garden area.

SHOWER BATHE: Camellias, fuchsias, azaleas in the evening or at night to provide a moist condition which they love during hot weather.

growing in the ground, would benefit from a thin "top dressing" over the soil. Leaf mold, compost soil, well-weathered manure or premoistened peat moss mixed 50-50 with manure would conserve moisture in the soil, also prevent soil compaction.

Avoid use of sphagnum peat moss as a top dressing in the sunny garden area, or around plants, or on new or redone lawn, or in a dichondra lawn, because it takes years for it to break down. Furthermore, as the peat moss dries it draws the moisture out of the soil. As an example: on several garden consultation calls when diagnosing garden troubles we've seen older dichondra lawns that were annually top-dressed with shade garden may be used in the sunny areas of flower beds and around trees.

The showy-flowered tuberous begonias don't do well in dry sectors of S. California, unless grown in a cool greenhouse under humid conditions.

The spectacularly colorful blooming plants that outshine any other group of varied color flowers in sunny locations are the dahlias. They are beautifying countless gardens throughout S. California.

This is the time to acquaint yourself with the beauty and wide range of colors of these flowers. Learn the names of those you like. Visit a dahlia show. Seek out one of the show officials and ask questions about the plants.

L.B. Man Wins Trades Council Executive Post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James S. Lee, 51, a Los Angeles painter was chosen Friday as the new president of the 430,000-member State Building and Construction Trades Council of California.

Others selected for two year terms of office include William C. Farley, Long Beach, Southern California vice president; Terence J. O'Sullivan, San Francisco, Northern California vice president, and J. J. Twombly, Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

Lee succeeds Bryan P. Deavers, 68, who held office for the last 14 years.

Signal Acquires Major Interest in Development

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Signal Properties, Inc. announced Friday acquisition of 60 per cent of "Coronado Cays," a $75-million residential community to be built on San Diego Bay.

The firm, one of The Signal Companies, joins Cedric Sanders Corp. as developers of the project.

The 1,400-resident community will be built on 230 acres on the Silver Strand, near the City of Coronado. Groundbreaking and dredging work is expected to start in 80 days.

AUGUST PLANTING LIST

(As recommended by Joe Littlefield)

- SHADE PLANTS — containers, flats, or pony paks. Begonias, canterbury bell, columbine, impatiens, Madagascar periwinkle, violet, English primrose, saxifrage sarmentosa, bergenia, francoa.
- SHADE SEED SOWING — Cineraria, coral bell, fairy and obconica primrose, forget-me-not, columbine.
- SUN-LOVING PLANTS—containers, flats, or pony paks. Arctotis, chrysanthemum, gerbera, coral bell, gazania, geranium, pinks, gloriosa daisy, salvia, petunia, pentstemon. (Very last call for planting zinnia, aster both tall and dwarf, ageratum.)
- SUN-LOVING SEED SOWING—Columbine, calendula, cora bell (grow in sun or shade), snapdragon, Iceland poppy, pansy, viola, perennial delphinium, Pacific hybrid delphinium, dimorphotheca, California poppy, mignonette, forget-me-not, malacoides and obconica primrose, pyrethrum. No four o'clock unless you like to use a crowbar to root out giant carrot-like roots.
- VEGETABLES—pony paks or flats. Chives, onions, parsley, strawberry, tomato—but hurry.
- VEGETABLE SEED SOWING—Broccoli, beans, carrots, endive, lettuce, onion, radish, swiss chard, turnip.

Q. We have an avocado tree about 18 years old, a good annual producer. Two months ago, tree was full of dozens of tiny avocados. All leaves have fallen off, tree is dying, not a leaf on it, tiny avocados all dried up. We've given it the usual care. What have we done wrong? Mrs. L. Hillinger.

A. One of three factors may be the cause. First... poor drainage, too much water may have caused tree root rot or avocado blight. Second... too much fertilizer but probably not likely, UNLESS you thoughtlessly fed tree too much and soil was dry before feeding. Third... plant trunk may be buried by too much soil. Or annual applications of organic mulch material without scraping off any remainder material before applying new eventually buries the tree trunk, too. Constant dampness causes an eventual breakdown of the bark which takes some years to do it. Finally when the bark rots through the cambium layer where sap flows up and down the tree, sap stops. Leaves dry, brown, drop off, same with fruit. To prove the third factor, dig soil away from tree trunk. Stop when you expose the roots. Scrape bark of the uncovered trunk. If bark is soft, moist and easily scrapes off to the hard wood, that is the problem... too deep.

Q. Please be kind enough to provide some information on carnations — care and transplanting. C. R. Perion.

Carnations don't respond to transplanting, unless from a container into the ground, NOT from the ground to another ground area or into pots. Care of carnations consists of normal waterings as needed, but water in the mornings. Apply a fertilizer containing less nitrogen than phosphoric acid. Spray with insecticide that lists aphids, thrips, spider mites, leaf hoppers, white flies, if any such pests found on plants.

Q. My avocado tree, around 10 years old, has yellow, brown leaves that drop off. Also, many fruit large as hen eggs fall off. Can one water too much? Mine is in yard, but keep grass cleaned away from underneath and edges. Should tree be built up with soil around it so high, high siding around to hold soil in barren lawn where I planted it? Hole was large, six or more feet, filled with soil and fertilizer. It has grown well, looks good, but loses too much fruit. I haven't fertilized too much but think enough. What's wrong? Mary M. Little

A. Avocado tree doesn't need to be irrigated much more than around two feet deep, but NOT around the trunk itself! Tree should be evenly watered from trunk to at least one to two feet beyond the drip-line of the tree. Soil should NOT be heaped around the trunk. With side of trowel you should easily be able to scrape off a thin layer of soil and expose the topmost mat of stringlike roots. Your six-foot-deep hole for the tree indicates luckily no hardpan soil, otherwise you could not have dug down that deep. Trees are fed at least twice a year with fertilizer containing less nitrogen than phosphoric acid.

What an Independent Press-Telegram Carrier Route Has Done for Me

by ROBERT GOINOWITZ
I, P.T. Newspaperboy

"My route has helped me gain more responsibility and has taught me not to depend on my parents for the things I need. It has also helped me to learn how to solve my own problems," says Robert.

"I deliver my newspapers between Candlewood and Del Amo and between Woodruff and Palo Verde. I go to school at Lakewood High where I am in the 10th grade. My favorite hobby is photography and my favorite sports are football and tennis.

With the profits from my route, I buy clothes, personal things and save money. I want to become an architect and plan to go to Long Beach City College and Long Beach State when I graduate from high school."

We salute Robert because he is industrious and has increased the subscribers on his route by 15 in the past two years.

CONVERSATION PIECE

14" x 22" Brilliant fullcolor reproduction of original art depicting the Queen Mary at her future site offshore from Downtown Long Beach. Printed on finest quality paper stock. Suitable for framing. Send 50c to cover cost of handling and mailing in sturdy cardboard tube.

What's going on with the Queen Mary?

You hear the question all the time. All over the country. In Los Angeles. In Orange County. Here in Long Beach too. As good as the Independent and Press-Telegram's coverage is on the Queen, there's nothing like a picture to tell the story.

Now for the first time the I.P.T. is offering a full-color artist's rendering of the Queen Mary at her Permanent Berth on the north side of the Proposed Pier J Marina. Here the Queen will be "the crown jewel of the city's shoreline development," according to Linsch and Reynolds, the consulting firm hired by the city to design the ship's final home.

Enjoy this "preview" of the proposed new look for the grand old lady. Order one, two, ten or as many of the full-color prints as you wish. Each print must be ordered separately and sent out in its own mailing tube. Order for your home as a conversation piece. Send them to your friends and relatives back East... or right here in our own Southern California backyard. Everyone's asking... so let's start telling.

26 Los Altos Teens --And 40 Children

By LES RODNEY

How do Long Beach teens — say Millikan High boys and girls — spend the summer months?

Oh, lots of way. Mostly from comfortable, if not exactly "rich" middle-class families, they don't have grinding worries about money, so they don't HAVE to work. A few do work part time to get themselves some independent spending money, maybe save toward a car. Others, thinking ahead to the stiff competition awaiting at that old devil college, take summer courses.

But mostly they have fun, relax, hit the beach and generally goof around, and who can blame them. If not now, when?

In the summer of 1968, a few of them do something else. Twenty-six boys and girls who are members of Los Altos United Methodist Church over on East Willow are spending a good part of the sun 'n fun time in and around a downtown church at Atlantic and 15th (their sister church, Atlantic Avenue Methodist). Every weekday from 9 to 12, to be exact, for six long weeks.

WHAT THEY DO there is work with some 40 black youngsters of ages 5 to 13 from the nearby central district. They tutor the kids in school subjects, then join them — like camp counselors — in a recreational hour and chow. In addition, they take the youngsters on occasional outings.

This may sound a little easier than it is. The volunteers from Los Altos have discovered what any teacher could have told them — that serious tutoring is hard work.

"It takes more patience than I thought it would," says Fern Kendall, 16. "But the relationship between the tutor and the kids gets to be very close. That helps. The children seem to really appreciate it, and I definitely feel it helps them. Yes, I'd do it again."

The central area parents too have been most friendly and appreciative, Fern notes.

"The first week, we had to go door to door in the neighborhood to tell the parents about it. The flyers weren't ready. We had, well, we had never done anything like that before. But the people were real friendly, they told us to come right in. We kind of learn things too, doing this.

"I do feel this kind of program has something to do with Christianity. A lot of kids don't know what it is to be a Christian."

The teen tutors do not look for expressions of gratitude, and they know that many pre-teens are not apt to articulate their feelings. Still, it's always nice to know, and Fern relates that the little girl she has been working with, after a couple of weeks suddenly looked up and shyly allowed that "this is better than messing around in the neighborhood."

ROBERT SHIPMAN, 15, who will be entering Millikan next month, says the educational process works both ways.

"It helps the youngsters, and me too. I know some things I didn't know before. I didn't know anything about these kids. Well, I supposed they'd be like any other kids, you know, but now I really know them."

"Sure I've learned things about myself too. My limitations. How you have to be more patient. Once you lose your cool, they laugh at you."

The ideal ratio of tutor to pupil is one to one, but the numbers didn't quite work out that way for everyone. "One time I had four," Robert says. "When we were on recreation, it was a job to get them to calm down. But most of the time it's pretty good."

"If more people could do this, it would have a good effect on both sides, I mean black and white. Both were a little scared of each other when we first got there. But this really works."

He too would do it again. "You mean next summer? Sure. I could quit any time I want right now, if I didn't want to stay."

Rev. Dr. Richard T. Knowles, who came from Upland recently to take over the ministries of youth and social concerns at the Los Altos church, says the church youth have shown ingenuity in their teaching. "They'll try different things, like using the game Monopoly for math, and a form of scrabble for spelling."

GUITARS and singing help things along, and in at least one instance a second language has paid off. One of the little boys is from Cuba, where his mother was a kindergarten teacher. They spoke no English. Two of the church lads happily bridged the gap with their Millikan Spanish.

The whole program, called "Project Outreach," is supported by Los Altos Methodist Church, and made possible by a gift from the late Dr. Lucile McConnell Gustafson, a trust fund established in 1964. The income from the fund is designated for evangelistic work.

Working director of the project is Mrs. Pat Meredith, a first grade teacher of Roosevelt, and a Negro. She is assisted by Mrs. Denise King of Los Altos.

"Mrs. Meredith can do things with these kids that you and I could never do," says Knowles. "Without her in charge it simply could not have been so successful."

Being kids, the black kids respond most exuberantly to outings.

"They are so full of life," the youthful minister relates, "seeing Marineland, and going to museums, which they had never seen before. If you want to say they are 'culturally deprived,' let's also say that our own kids have their cultural deprivation, living only among others of a similar background and culture."

One odd little lesson learned by the Los Altos volunteers through the help of Mrs. Meredith involved the wearing of shoes. As with most teens of their background, it is "the thing" to be casual and go barefoot whenever possible. But — the black parents want their youngsters to wear shoes, and most especially feel it important to be dressed properly in such situations as this. Ergo, the example-setting tutors wear their shoes and socks on Project Outreach.

THEY WERE also startled to discover that most of the black kids had never before had their pictures taken. An extra $25 has now been budgeted for film. Each of the children will have a pictorial memento with his white big brother — or sister.

Rev. Knowles is high on Long Beach as a city where "many people are at least attempting to be sensitive to the needs of the less fortunate." He sees less of the usual gap in the church between the pastor and the congregation than in other towns. He also feels that "not only do whites have stereotypes about blacks, but blacks have some about whites. This is, of course, a small project, but it helps both ways. As Martin Luther King said, people should be judged not by the color of their skin but by the content of their lives."

Not everything about such a project works smoothly. "For instance," says Knowles, "the tendency of our teens falling back to their own familiar patterns. Teen-agers complain that the older generation doesn't try to relate to them. But they got that right back here! They found it easier to stick to the old ways. It's work to relate. It's so easy on a trip to chat with your buddy rather than work hard to relate to the kids."

But they have responded over the weeks, and are gaining insights they never could have gotten otherwise. "If one wants to think in big terms and generalities about the program, he supposes, one can think about a group of potential leaders emerging. In both groups

MRS. MEREDITH pays enthusiastic tribute to the caliber of the Los Altos teens.

"They are great kids," she emphasizes. "People talk about teen-agers being this and that. So far as I can see, they have more guts than adults who sit in the living room and talk about things they don't really know. These teens have the gumption to come down and see for themselves."

With two weeks to go, her judgment is that "It's been a very worthwhile project. The little children and the teens get along so well. It's wonderful to see the kind of relationship that teen-agers have to smaller children. They get concerned about them. At first, when one of the children hadn't arrived yet, the teens were not too anxious to walk over and get them. They'll go now. They KNOW the children, and they'll worry about them."

"Of course, the children are hungry to learn. They have so much to give."

WORLD IN FERMENT

'Enthusiasm' Key to Hope, Pleasure

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One of your greatest assets is the capacity for enthusiasm. And if ever there was a time that called for enthusiasm, that time is now. It seems all we hear today is muttering and moaning about the state of the world: "These are terrible times." "The world is in bad shape." "Everywhere you look is trouble and more trouble." These are very gloomy and nonenthusiastic remarks.

The world is full of trouble, and judging from history it always has been. It sure is plenty full of trouble today, but the very fact of so much trouble should in itself evoke enthusiasm. Does that sound absurd? It did to me at first but I soon changed my mind.

I once knew a wise old preacher — David Keppel, an Irishman out of Belfast. He was pushing 90 and I was just a youngster in my 30s. One day I remarked to him somewhat despondently that the world was in a terrible state — that things were going from bad to worse.

"So you think things are pretty bad?" he queried. "Well, what do you say we thank God that it is so." "What do you mean?" I asked in amazement. "Thank God for the mess we're in?"

"IN IRELAND," he explained, "we have an old saying that when there is trouble on earth, it means there is movement in heaven." (Which is an interesting way of saying there is a Providence at work and out of all the trouble a better world will emerge.)

It is sometimes mighty hard to see what good can be forthcoming from all our difficulties, conflict, violence and suffering. News reports in these eventful 1960s do not often make a person exclaim, "Isn't this great! We are really getting places!"

But think of the creative long-range trends underlying much of the turmoil we are going through. Look at the advances mankind is making on so many fronts, changes under way that spell brighter lives for multitudes of human beings. Here are millions of Americans on the march to equality of status, to economic betterment and expanded opportunity that their grandparents scarcely dreamed of 50 years ago. Here, reflected in far-flung technical assistance and in

U.S. Samoan Church Survey

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — The Christian Congregational Church continues to be the majority church in American Samoa, according to a report issued by the Office of Samoan Information.

The church, formerly known as the London Missionary Society, claims about 65 per cent of the territory's estimated population of 25,000. The church reports a total membership of 16,276.

The Roman Catholic Church reports a membership of 5,000 or 20 per cent, and the Mormons list a membership of 2,300 representing 9.2 per cent.

The fourth largest body is the Methodist Church which lists 1,200 members or about 5 per cent of the population.

Other churches in American Samoa are the Assembly of God, Seventh-day Adventists, Church of the Nazarene, Samoan Full Gospel, United Pentecostal, Church of Christ and Jehovah's Witnesses.

Flemming Tells Methodists Put Riot Report 1st

PEORIA, Ill. —(AP) Arthur S. Flemming has urged representatives of the United Methodist Church to support political candidates this year who favor implementation of the Kerner Commission Report on Civil Disorders.

Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, told a session of the Methodist North Central Jurisdiction conference that the church is neither "hot nor cold, but lukewarm."

He said the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, headed by former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, must be read by every person in the country.

Flemming urged the churchmen to abandon whatever studies and discussion they had planned for upcoming months and devote their time and energies to studying the report and acting to implement its recommendations.

Final Rites Today for Rev. Kennedy

Services will be held today in Santa Ana for Rev. Wallace L. Kennedy, pastor of Bible Presbyterian Church of Long Beach, who died Wednesday at the age of 67.

Rev. Kennedy, a native of Fresno, was an ordained minister for 42 years, and was pastor at the Long Beach church for the past two years. He was a retired Lt. Commander in the Navy Chaplain Corps.

He is survived by his wife, Vivian B. of the home address, 4549 Atlantic Ave.; two sons, Phillip and Stephen, both of South Bend, Ind.; mother, Mrs. Mollie G. Kennedy of Santa Ana; and brothers, Rev. Merl H. of Arkansas and Donald R. of Villa Park.

Final rites will be in Brown Colonial Mortuary, 204 W. 17th St., today at 1:30 p.m., followed by interment in Fairhaven Memorial Park.

FROM THE PULPIT

The wife had neglected to sew a button on the most dependent portions of the husband's lower garment, and the husband was quite upset about it.

"Well, I wasn't feeling well enough to do any sewing. Which is most important—your wife or your pants?"

The husband thought it over and quietly replied, "Well, there are a number of places that I can go without my wife."

There are a number of places that you can go on Sunday. But you know that you should be in some good, Bible — preaching church. Most spiritual legacies occur when people who know better quit regular attendance of the Lord's House on Sunday.

"Whether shall I go from thy presence?" asked David. And when shall you hide from Him?

Public worship is requested by God. Forget your scape-goating and excuses and let the Lord's Day find you in the Lord's House.

Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

Witness Meet to Draw 15,000

The Forum in Inglewood, home of the Lakers and the Kings, will be transformed into a giant house of worship for four days starting Thursday, when Jehovah's Witnesses will hold a "good News for All Nations" assembly.

The event will be hosted by some 100 Southland congregations, including those of the Long Beach area. Upward of 15,000 from many states are expected to attend, according to William T. Arnold, supervising minister in the Long Beach area.

The program will center around advance ministerial training, including Bible dramas, lectures, discussions, symposiums and demonstrations on how the Witnesses feel Christians should respond to the moral issues of the day. The keynote address is scheduled for Friday at 3:30 p.m., and a climactic public lecture entitled "Man's Rule About to Give Way to God's Rule" will be given Sunday at 3 p.m.

Baptism of new ministers will be another assembly highlight Friday morning. There is no ordained or salaried ministry in the denomination, and all who are baptized into the fellowship are considered ministers. Supervising ministers volunteer their services.

Arnold noted that all persons, regardless of their beliefs, are invited, and that there would be no admission charge and no collections taken.

"We will see Negro families, Mexican-American families, and Orientals, as well as Caucasians," he said. "We believe all people will improve their lives in every respect by living up to Bible standards."

MORMON MISSIONARIES DALTON, REDD, HULL, MAESTAS

4 Mormon Youth Ring Bells Here HE TELLS OFF RADICALS FOR 'RECKLESS FADS'

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Four young missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are in Long Beach ringing doorbells as part of their church's mission to Spanish speaking people.

The four, college students all, are concluding their two-year mission, during which they support themselves. They will resume their interrupted college careers this fall.

They are Jack E. Dalton, 21, of Idaho Falls; James D. Redd, 19, of Blanding, Wash.; Kenneth Hull, 20, of Pocatello, Ida., and Joe Maestas, 21, of Chama, N.M.

In preparation for their work with the West Spanish-American Mission, they spent three intensive months of language training at Brigham Young University.

"Our object," explained Dalton, "is to tell whoever will listen about the church and the restored gospel."

They are not high-pressure salesmen, he added, and they feel they may do something useful when they have been able to talk to someone, whether or not the person becomes a Mormon.

The young men report a generally friendly reception in their door to door canvassing, though it varies. There is already one branch of Spanish speaking Mormons in Compton, they said, and a growing number who are members of the Long Beach stakes.

"In every age, the young have cast about for new stigmas with which to beat the old dogmas. Now the dogmas themselves are being sloughed off."

That capsule comment on the current vogue of radical theology comes from Dr. Albert C. Outler of the Perkins School of Theology in Dallas.

Outler is a Methodist theologian of international repute. And he's one of the very few men I know who manages to be both witty and profound when he talks about theology.

He was at Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey recently, participating with about 50 other U.S. and European scholars in a seminar on "Next Steps for church and Theology."

MANY OF the young rebels of contemporary radical theology were in the group, and Outler took advantage of the opportunity to give them a verbal spanking.

He began by saying that young theologians are expected to do a certain amount of ranting against traditional doctrines because "novelty is the spice of theological life."

"What is new in the current situation is the zealotry and dedicated iconoclasm that has come to dominate the temper and tone of the theological newcomers," he said.

The young radicals have gone beyond constructive criticism and reformulation of ancient doctrines, and appear to be engaged in "a deliberate rejection of traditional Christianity as such."

Outler said "the record for recklessness is held by the 'Death of God' people," but other radicals are not too far behind in their "wholesale negations."

He noted, however, that even the most enthusiastic iconoclasts have displayed "a curious brinkmanship, a hesitation before the final consequence of their repudiations."

"Why stop with 'Christian atheism' when honest-to-God disbelief is livelier and less ambiguous?" he asked. "Why propose radical church reform and then balk at outright disestablishment (which would, of course, mean the end of tax exemptions)? What hinders the secularizers from reforming 'the church' into a federation of service clubs?"

HE SUGGESTED that some radicals are not quite as disbelieving as their flamboyant statements have led the public to think. But their proclaimed skepticism has had a deadly impact, he said.

"Increasing numbers of 'modern' men have been persuaded that traditional Christianity does not merit their serious attention. Thus far, precious few have been recovered for 'reformed' Christianity by the iconoclasts."

Fortunately, Outler said, "there are signs that the iconoclastic fury is waning, and that the pendulum is beginning to swing the other way."

He observed that one of the more-publicized death-of-God theologians, Dr. William Hamilton, "has promised himself more homework before further obituary notices," and Prof. Thomas J. J. Altizer "has begun to talk about the deity in terms that either deny its death or affirm its inexplicable resurrection."

Bishop John A. T. Robinson has written a sequel to "Honest to God" in which "the swinger has turned square."

OUTLER VOICED hope that when theologians are through playing the game of "I can say more shocking things than you," they will get back to the serious work of trying to find meaningful contemporary answers to the questions which confront every generation — the fundamental questions which arise from "man's irrepressible awareness of the 'holy,' his awareness that his present existence is somehow 'flawed,' and his deep 'hunger for healing.'"

Kerley was one of 49 high school boys and girls in a United Presbyterian youth tour in Hawaii, during which they studied the religions of the islands. He is active in the youth program at the Starr King United Presbyterian Church, 132 E. Artesia Blvd.

OK Catholic Priesthood for Father of 3 Birth Control Dissenters Increasing

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)

Peter John Rushton, a former Anglican clergyman with a wife and three children, is preparing to be ordained as a Roman Catholic priest.

Rushton, 41, became a Church of England minister in 1950, in Britain, and served as an Air Force chaplain. In 1955 his wife, a doctor, became a Roman Catholic. The following year he left the ministry, and he, too, became a convert.

The archbishop of Hobart, Tasmania, the Most Rev. Gullford Young, has confirmed that the Vatican has approved the ordination. Rushton said the Pope signed a dispensation allowing him to continue normal married life while working as a priest.

"What will probably happen is that I shall take a teaching job with part-time duties in a hospital or cathedral," he said.

Mrs. Rushton said: "I am very, very pleased about what has happened. I think Catholics are ready to accept married priests."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Catholic theologians who disagree with Pope Paul IV's encyclical on birth control say their number has grown from 87 to 163.

The growing support was announced at a news conference by Rev. Charles E. Curran, associate professor of theology at Catholic University here and vice president of the Catholic Theological Society of America.

Father Curran said that among those joining the dissent was Rev. Dr. Bernard Haring, professor of systematic moral theology at the Academia Alonsiana in Rome.

Father Curran described Dr. Haring as the greatest Catholic theologian in the world.

The Pope earlier this week banned all types of birth control for Catholics. But the theologians announced the next day that they disagreed, that they believed practicing birth control should be left to the conscience of each couple and that it was sometimes necessary to preserve marriage.

New Worship Concepts Bringing Revolution in Church Architecture

thinking of the entire scope of church building.

A common assumption now is that any church for more than 500 people is probably too big.

Edward Anders Sovik, a theologically sophisticated architect in Northfield, Minn., has suggested that, except for size, the best analogy for church designing is now that Japanese tea room.

"Like a church, the tea room is not a place for private meditation but for a dialogue and for certain actions in which human relationships are established," he said.

A parallel trend is evident in the designing of synagogues. Although Jewish liturgy and theology are not undergoing the same sort of upheavals as their Christian counterparts, synagogue architects also are seeking to enhance the concept of the gathered community through circular designs.

"It's the same feeling as the students have in France or at Columbia University," said Percival Goodman, the architect. "People are sick and tired of being spectators. They want to be part of what's going on."

ANOTHER DOMINANT movement in Christian church architecture is toward flexibility. There is growing agreement among both Protestant and Catholic leaders that a church building should allow the greatest possible flexibility on worship forms and that it should also be constructed to serve the community when worship services are not scheduled.

The dimensions of the Hope Presbyterian Church in Creve Coeur, near St. Louis, were thus set by the requirements of a basketball court, and its beige concrete walls are regularly adapted for sports, dances, concerts and lectures.

"The purpose is to show that both worship and the building itself are part of the totality of life," said Rev. Robert T. Cuthill, who was pastor of the congregation when the church was built.

One architect has designed a pulpit that converts into a movie projection screen. Clovis Heim-sath, a Houston architect, has built a campus center with an intercom system and outlets for electric guitars.

Flexibility in the use of church buildings is seen by some clergymen as the answer to those who do not believe that churches should put any money into buildings so long as urban problems remain critical.

A new Newman Foundation center at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., for instance, will consist primarily of a multi-use cultural center with a small chapel at the side that can be merged with the main hall on Sundays.

Another recent theological change has been an emphasis on joy and hope in preaching and worship, a development that has dramatically affected the art of church interiors.

ARCHITECTS have decided, as Robert Rangesch, a designer, put it, that "eternal values don't need eternal forms to express them." Madonna's, large gold crosses and rich stained glass windows have thus given way to a less imposing decor.

"Our interior is all done in natural materials and subdued colors," said Rev. Peter J. Gilbert, a member of the staff of the Rensselaer center. "It's what you put into the room — people in bright colors, vestments, and banners — that make the difference."

One architect has suggested that churches take their cues from birthday parties or other secular celebrations.

Underlying this entire trend is a new religious concern with the secular world, which is in turn causing "second" thoughts about whether there is such a thing as "religious architecture."

In both Catholic and Protestant churches, the emphasis in recent years had been to relate theology to social and other problems. Whereas the columns and spires of the Gothic cathedral pointed to a God in the heavens, church leaders today are eager to have their buildings express a God who is involved in human affairs.

Sovik said that a church building should be "the most earthly of all buildings" and express the idea of God's "incarnation" in the world.

The test of a "religious" building, Sovik said, is whether it is dominating and proud or "kind to people."

Others agree. "What Christianity is all about is God communicating himself through human relationships," Roddy said.

CHURCH HUMOR

"It is better to light one candle than ...to...to...CURSE THIS LIGHTER!"

BILLY PLANS '69 ANAHEIM CRUSADE

Plans for a Billy Graham Crusade in Anaheim Stadium have taken definite shape, it was announced this week. The event will take place in September, 1969.

Twenty pastors and church laymen have been named to an executive planning committee, and a council of ministers will be formed to obtain the co-operation of churches from Santa Barbara to San Diego.

UMPIRE WON'T TAKE ANY JAZZ FROM YAZ

BOSTON (UPI) — Umpire Al Salerno says Boston Red Sox slugger Carl Yastrzemski used profanity and threatened to hit him following Thursday night's game and he plans to file a report about it with American League president Joe Cronin.

"Yastrzemski threatened to punch me in the mouth," Salerno said.

Yastrzemski and the umpire exchanged words in the runway leading from the field after the New York Yankees defeated Boston, 1-0, Salerno said. He had called Yastrzemski out on strikes to end the game.

"The conversation was all one-sided going through the runway," Salerno said. "Yastrzemski started popping off. He told me what he thought of me with profanity."

"That kind of talk is unnecessary. I don't have to take it," he said. "This is the kind of trouble you get from players when things don't go right for them."

The Boston outfielder, who won the triple crown in batting last season as the Red Sox won the pennant, has been in a slump ever since lifting his batting average to .342 early last month. He is hitting .288 and has been bothered of late by strained ligaments in his left wrist.

Angels' Only Tigers' Are All Pitchers

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

BOSTON — The Angels' offense is as tame as a pussy cat, but manager Bill Rigney hears a roar from the mound.

"He's going to be one of the new young lions," said Rigney of rookie pitcher Tim Murphy.

"And you can put (Bill) Harrelson in the same class. Both of these guys can really throw the ball."

Murphy pitched the Angels to a 3-2 win in the opener of a twinning doubleheader here Friday but the Sox bounced back to win the second game 6-1.

The 22-year-old Murphy is one of the few lights in a season when candles keep going out for the Angels.

Murphy limited the Red Sox to six hits for his third win against four losses. It was Murphy's first win since June 28, primarily due to the fact he has received meager support from the Angel batters.

In his previous six starts Murphy had yielded only eight earned runs in 39 innings and yet was 0-4 during the streak. Six of the eight earned runs had come in the first inning.

Murphy got by the first inning Friday, after yielding a single to leadoff batter Mike Andrews, and kept right on going.

The Angels, however, fell back into their old groove

ANGEL OF DAY
AURELIO RODRIGUEZ, who ran his hitting streak to 15 games, three shy of the club record, as the Angels split a doubleheader with Boston, winning 3-2 and losing 6-1.

of getting hits and baserunners but few runs in the second game as the Sox snapped a four-game losing streak.

The Halos have lost 8 of their last 10 games, scoring only 14 runs (1.4 per game) during the streak. The amazing thing is the Angels have had 83 hits in the 10 games to 78 for their opponents. And yet the Angel opponents have totaled 38 runs. That's more runs on 5 fewer hits. The Angels have left 81 runners stranded in their last 10 games to 59 for their opponents.

But enough of the colorless statistics, particularly with a colorful guy like Murphy around.

"I love clothes and to dress up," said the good-looking youngster from Ohio after he had beaten the Sox.

A yellow Nehru-type sports coat was hanging in Murphy's locker alone with a pair of white pants.

"Ken Harrelson saw me wearing the sport coat to-day and he wanted to buy," said Murphy. "But I wasn't going to sell."

Harrelson, the star Red Sox rightfielder, couldn't buy a hit off Murphy either. He went 0-for-3 and each time went out with a runner on base.

With the Angels leading 3-2 in the eighth and runners on first and second, Carl Yastrzemski was due up with Harrelson to follow. But first Rigney rushed to the mound to have a chat with his stand-out rookie.

"I'm not going to pull you," said Rigney. "I just want to give you a breather." Murphy got Yastrzemski on a liner to left and then Harrelson hit into a force play with Angel shortstop Jim Fregosi pulling off a fine defensive effort.

"After the game Murphy came up to me and said

Real All-Starr Stands Up, Leads Packers to Win; 2 TDs for Earl

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bart Starr hit Carroll Dale with three touchdown passes and Jerry Kramer kicked an All Star Game record field goal of 47 yards Friday night as the Green Bay Packers racked up a 34-17 victory over the College All Stars.

Starr got the Packers out of the starting blocks in a hurry, missing on his first two passes and then hitting 10 straight to leave the crowd of 69,917, mostly fans of the All Stars, speechless.

New coach Phil Bengtson pulled Starr with 14 minutes left to go after he had completed 17 of 23 passes for 288 yards, hitting Dale on touchdown throws of 20, 36, and 13 yards.

Starr's performance was the major cog in the Packers' first touchdown too, a one yard plunge by Donnie Anderson the Packers got out of the shadow of their own goal post. From the Star 26. The old record for the game was 46 yards by Lee Artoe of the Chicago Bears in 1941.

Wade Traynham, a place kicker acquired by the Packers from Atlanta only this week, accounted for the other Green Bay points with a 30-yard field goal in the second period.

It was the third successive win for the Packers in the annual scrap with the Collegians, but in the previous two games, the All Stars couldn't score on the tough Pack defense, which helped provide wins by scores of 38-0 and 27-0. It was the sixth win for the Packers in eight All Star Games.

The Stars had trouble getting going against the Packers this time and got across midfield only once in the first half when Jerry De Poyster kicked a 22 yard field goal.

But in the second half, Jim Grabowski's fumble was recovered by Tim Rosovich on the Packer 37. Larry Csonka, the best ball carrier for the Collegians, picked up 31 yards in four carries and then Gary Beban passed to Earl McCulloch for seven yards and the score.

McCulloch got the Stars' second touchdown too, hauling in a 24-yard toss from Greg Landry. De Poyster converted after both scores.

Norm Van Brocklin, coaching the All Stars for the first time, got almost everybody into the game and got good defensive performances from numerous individuals, but the Pack defense was too much for the Collegiate offense, intercepting three passes and allowing only 106 yards in the air.

The Collegians outrushed the Packers with 206 yards to 89, but Starr's passing performance helped the Packers to 292 yards in the air and the victory.

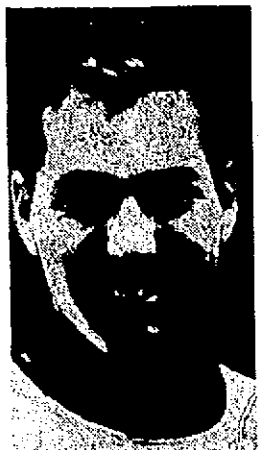

"Our secondary let us down," Van Brocklin said afterwards. "I don't understand it. We practiced well, and then we didn't play well."

"Of course (Bart) Starr had a terrific night. You'll never find him any sharper."

He picked us apart. He was the difference in the game. If you took him out of there, we were as good as Green Bay."

Packer coach Phil Bengtson praised the All Stars and his own team. He believed his offense worked well with Starr but thought his club showed some defensive lapses.

Van Brocklin also was satisfied with his offense, particularly fullback Csonka who was the game's leading rusher with 95 yards in 18 carries. Csonka piled up most of his yards in the second half.

HANSEN, CULLEN SWAP UNIFORMS ONCE AGAIN

CHICAGO (UPI) — Shortstop Ron Hansen and second baseman Tim Cullen swapped uniforms Friday for the second time this year with Hansen returning to the Chicago White Sox and Cullen rejoining the Washington Senators in a straight player trade with no cash involved.

The two traded uniforms earlier on Feb. 13 when Hansen, after five years with the Sox, was swapped to the Senators along with pitchers Dennis Higgins and Steve Jones for Cullen and pitchers Buster Narum and Bob Priddy.

Hansen, who this week made an unassisted triple play and hit a grand slam home run, was hitting .185 with eight homers and 28 runs batted in for Washington, while Cullen boasted a .206 average, two homers and 13 RBI for the White Sox.

Each player joined his new club for Friday night's game between the two teams in Milwaukee.

Dodgers Win(d)ing way to Cellar

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer

Hank Aguirre has promised a champagne party for the press when he wins a game, but the question remains: Which will be in the cellar first, the wine or the Dodgers?

Aguirre, winless since Sept. 16, 1966, had his best chance Friday night in his 18th appearance for the Dodgers. He relieved starter Don Sutton with the score 1-1, one out in the eighth inning and two Mets on base.

The 36-year-old veteran of 14 major league seasons got pinch-hitter Ed Charles to fly out and had a 2-and-2 count on Ron Swoboda when something popped. It wasn't the champagne.

Swoboda, who was jammed on the pitch, hit it back to the mound but Aguirre couldn't find it. "I snagged for the ball," he said, "but it wasn't there."

The ball rolled through the middle and the Mets had the lead run.

A single by Jerry Grote made it 3-1 and the Mets went on to win 3-2 behind the seven-hit pitching of Tom Seaver (10-7).

The Dodgers dropped within a game of the cellar

DODGER OF DAY
LEN GABRIELSON singled twice and hit eighth home run as Dodgers lost to Mets, 3-2.

Astros while losing for the 22nd time in the last 29 games.

Loser Sutton (4-10) pitched on even terms with Seaver until the Mets put together four hits for the winning rally in the eighth.

"The difference," said Walter Alston, "was four squib hits for them, one right after the other. We got our best hits with nobody on base."

The best Dodger hits were three by Len Gabrielson, who boosted his average 10 points to .273. Each time the bases were empty, but he did score both runs, one on his eighth home run, his best total in six major league seasons.

Gabe singled in the first inning, but was out stealing as Willie Davis struck out to make it an inning-ending double play.

In the fourth inning Davis followed Gabrielson's single with a double and Ron Fairly hoisted a sacrifice fly deep to center, giving Sutton a 1-0 advantage.

The Mets caught up in the sixth when Larry Stahl doubled to left, Ed Kranepool singled to right, Kranepool was a .312-hitter in July and has raised his average more than 40 points in the last six weeks. His .268 average ranks fourth on the club and undoubtedly will make him one of the 15 untouchable Mets in the October expansion draft.

Although the Mets had nine hits, seven against

Sutton, the difference was the inability of Sutton and Aguirre to field two of them through the box.

Bud Harrelson's bouncing leadoff single in the eighth bisected the pitching rubber, but Sutton's exaggerated follow-through carried him far to the left without a chance to make a play.

"It's a tough chance for him because he falls so far to the left," said Alston. "I didn't have a good angle on Swoboda's hit (past Aguirre) but I know this: Aguirre is not a good fielder."

The Mets climbed into seventh place, .002 points ahead of Phillies and took an 8-5 season edge over the Dodgers, 5-1 at Dodger Stadium. In their first six years, the Mets were unable to win more than three games at Dodger Stadium in any season.

STANFORD ACE CROSS HURT

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford end Jim Cross, fifth among receivers in the Pacific Eight last season, may miss the 1968 campaign.

Coach John Ralston said Thursday that the ace passer was injured in an automobile accident and suffered a broken collarbone, broken ribs and a hairline pelvic fracture.

Cross played at Long Beach City College before transferring to Stanford and to Lakewood High School.

Alamitos Derby Trials Tonight

Twenty swift two-year-olds tonight will be trying to qualify for next week's $111,300 Los Alamitos Derby when they compete in two divisions of the Derby trials at 440 yards.

Ten youngsters will go in each division of the trials, which will be the sixth and seventh races on the nine-race program. Each horse in the two divisions will be individually timed, with the 10 fastest qualifiers going in the derby Saturday, Aug. 10.

Rubin Ann Donlan and the John Longden-owned Midnight Note appear to be the best of the youngsters in the first group, with the others in the sixth race being Blohby Charger, Barleo Rocket, Titania, Lightning Rebel, Truly's Best, Parr Lamb, Go A Mite and Doldrums.

Standouts in the second division are Top Rockette, Truly Night and Go Derussa Go, with the rest of the pack being Rambler Rocket, Winning Streak, Clabber Go Mark T. Bars, Deb's Bar None, Crimson Hustler and The Churl.

Trainer Chuck Taliaferro will have four horses going in the Trials, two in each division. They are Lightning Rocket, Midnight Note, Clabber Go and Go Derussa Go.

The Derby will be the first of three $100,000 races to be run at Los Alamitos in 1968, the other two being the Kindergarten Labor Day, Sept. 2 and the Los Alamitos Championship closing day, Nov. 11.

Also on the program this evening is the $8,000 Jet Deck, a 350-yard sprint for two-year-olds. The Jet Deck, the eighth race on the card, is named in honor of the great runner who won the Los Alamitos derby five years ago.

The four inside horses — Kaweah Bar, Artillery, Prissy Lula and Norcino — figure to draw most of the attention in the Jet Deck. The other four in the race are April Dial, Diamonds An Wine, Nenee's Honey and Kipity's Fancy.

Los Alamitos established its second best weekday attendance and handle records Friday night as Mr. Rocket Bar captured the featured $8,000 Shue Fly at 350 yards.

A crowd of 13,912 watched Mr. Rocket Bar break out of the gate with the leaders and take command soon after the start. He raced under the wire a neck in front of the fast-closing Ima Jones Girl, with Lumpjaw third.

Joe Sherry was a late scratch in the race when he unseated jockey Bill Strauss, then broke through the gate and raced down the straightaway.

Dis and Dale — Tonight's game begins at 6 and matches Bill Singer (2-0) and Ted Anderson (1-0) at 6:05 p.m. The early starting time is because of Sunday's doubleheader. ... Paul Popovich returns tonight from two weeks of Army Reserve duty and Jim LeBeau begins his two weeks at Ft. Crockett, near Sausalito. ... Friday's paid attendance was 12,438, bringing the season total to 1,195,415.

SEA FESTIVAL OFFERS ALL TYPES OF BOATING

Long Beach, Calif., Saturday, Aug. 2, 1968

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM—C-3

GUIDES NEW CINCINNATI CLUB

Brown Starts Comeback

Competition of tortoise and hare contrast launches the third California International Sea Festival today but despite tradition, tortoises will race only tortoises and hares will race only hares.

The tortoise-type, the slow but dedicated sabot sailors of Long Beach will jam Alamitos Bay from beach to beach this morning at the start of the appropriately named International Sabot Regatta.

Over 400 skippers will match hulls in races beginning at 11 a.m. and lasting until 4 p.m. each day through Tuesday.

The sabot is Long Beach's contribution to the world of sailing as is the co-host Leeway Sailing Club, an institution created 30 years ago to provide organized authoritative sailing instruction for children.

There will be four classes of races for the Leeway sailors who range from seven to 18 years of age and co-host Alamitos Bay YC will offer four more divisions for Leeway grads.

Lady sabot skippers will be, or are, in a class by themselves.

Sailing sessions today and Sunday feature the senior saboteers, who will compete in divisions determined by weight.

At Marine Stadium, the circle boats, blessed with rabbit-like quickness and harebrained dispositions crank up beginning at 10 a.m. to qualify in 88 spots for finals in 11 classes Sunday.

The sponsoring Southern California Speed Boat Club has received 330 entries for its 11 main events. Three of the classes, E runabouts, Crackerboxes and super stock runabouts, will have national titles waiting for the winners.

Qualifying will run until 4 p.m. today with an adult admission charge of $1.

Sunday's finals begin at noon with admission $2, children under 12 free.

Associated Press
Paul Brown, one of the great coaches in pro football history, returns to the sidelines tonight for the first time since 1962.

Brown leads his fledgling Cincinnati Bengals, pro football's newest team, in an American Football League exhibition game against the Kansas City Chiefs at the University of Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium.

In an afternoon game, the Chicago Bears and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League meet at Canton, Ohio, in the annual Hall of Fame game. Seven all-time stars will be inducted into pro football's Hall of Fame during weekend ceremonies.

Elsewhere tonight, the Baltimore Colts of the NFL are at Oakland to face the AFL champion Raiders while the NFL's San Francisco 49ers meet the AFL Chargers in San Diego.

The starting offensive line-up for Brown's Bengals will be made up of six rookies and five players obtained in the expansion draft. John Stofa, obtained in a trade from the Miami Dolphins, will start at Quarterback.

backs — Baltimore's John Unita and Daryle Lamoni of Oakland.

Jim Dooley, successor to an ancient George Halas, makes his debut as coach of the Bears in the Hall of Fame game. The 49ers also have a new coach — Dick Nolan.

The Hall of Fame inductees are Cliff Battles, Art Donovan, Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch, Wayne Miller, Marion Motley, Charlie Trippi and Alex Wojciechowski.

Karate Series at Arena

By MIKE DUDA

The World Series of Karate, with more than 1,500 entrants, opens today in the Long Beach Arena with five world championships at stake. Eliminations begin at noon.

Competitors will represent all 50 states, Japan, Canada, South America and Ireland in five divisions, boys' and men's freestyle, children's kata, women's kata and men's kata.

Freestyle competition consists of sparring between two competitors and a winner is decided upon the judgement of a referee. Kata is a form of karate.

The world's foremost expert on karate, Ed Parker, is sponsoring the event. Parker is the president of the International Kenpo Karate Assn. and considered the father of the self-defense sport in America.

Actress Elke Sommer and Cal State Long Beach coach Joyce Wilson will act as hostesses of the event, with actors Joey Bishop, Bill Cosby, Robert Culp and Elvis Presley expected to attend.

Today's eliminations will run until 6 p.m. and continue at 9 a.m. on Sunday. Finals will begin at 7 Sunday night.

Player Jumping Harmful

CHICAGO (AP) — Vince Lombardi declared Friday that "we cannot play football as we now play it and keep the competitive balance unless we stop the jumping of players from one team to another."

Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League, told the Football Writers Assn's annual meeting "we cannot have players playing out their options."

Such freedom, he said, would mean "the affluent professional teams would get all the best. We have to have some rules and regulations. I don't think the rules are strict enough."

Lombardi also said he believed there was a place for minor league football "but the problem is one of finance."

"With 26 professional big league teams the talent is becoming spaced out, diluted," he said. "There should be areas where we could develop our own talent."

Lombardi's formal speech was on the quality of leadership which he said must be made up of "spartanism, humility, fearlessness, and love — the respect a man has for the dignity of another."

He was asked afterwards if he had thought of entering politics now that he has retired as coach of the Packers.

"They'd eat me alive," he said. "I'm too much of an idealist to go into politics."

NO SERIOUS INJURIES AFTER SAINTS' GAME Back to Work for Rams

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

One down, 19 to go:
For 38 minutes Thursday night, the Rams' offense resembled a Chinese water torture, oozing and dribbling and unable to register a first down.

But once Roman Gabriel's receivers stopped playing dropsy, the Rams took charge and polished off the Saints, 21-17.

In collecting their ninth consecutive pre-season victory the Rams emerged with the usual number of bumps and bruises, but no serious injuries. Linebacker Tony Guillory sustained a broken finger, and Don Chuy a dislocated thumb, but both are expected to play in Friday's exhibition against Cleveland at the Coliseum.

Les Josephson, who looked in mid-season form the second half with his tackle-breaking bursts, sustained a gash on his arm. But the Augustana kid wouldn't let a little thing like that keep him out of combat.

Linebacker Jack Pardee was presented the game ball for his job of calling defensive signals for the first time.

Maxie Baughman normally calls signals, but George Allen is bringing the veteran linebacker along slowly following off-season surgery and will keep him out of exhibition play until the final week.

Gabriel said later: "It's hard to say what happened when we went bad after our first series. I just started missing by inches. I'd miss one and then our receivers would drop one. When you're not hitting passes you should hit, it's hard to get anything going.

"One problem might have been that I hadn't had any contact. In camp, the quarterback doesn't get hit. Thursday was my first real action. As a result, I think I was releasing the ball a little too quickly. The offensive line was giving me enough time, I just wasn't taking it," Gabriel admitted.

The Saints outgained the Rams, 258 yards to 235. First downs were 13 apiece.

George Allen didn't give his boys much of a holiday for their effort. They were back in camp Friday at noon, worked out in the afternoon, and resume two-day drills today.

It won't be long before the Turk visits the Ram camp. With 64 players on his roster (excluding David Jones, Jack Snow and Clancy Williams), Allen must get down to 49 by Aug. 26. The next cutdown figure is Sept. 2 when the Rams must pare their squad to 43 and Sept. 9 is the deadline for reaching the 40-man limit for league play.

Signs Scholarship

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Eamonn O'Keefe, a Dublin flash regarded as one of the fastest prep half-milers in Europe, has signed a track scholarship with the University of Florida.

THE EARTH tremor that shook Mexico City Friday did not damage any of the Olympic Games installations a spokesman for the Mexican Organizing Committee said.

THE UNITED STATES will probably not field an Olympic hockey team the next few years according to Murray Williamson, coach and general manager of the Grenoble squad.

Williamson cited lack of interest on the part of the Olympic Committee as the reason for many of the top players leaving the team.

A YOUNG executive from the Philadelphia Phillies organization jumped sports Friday by signing as business manager with the 76ers of the NBA.

Pat Williams, 28, was president-general manager of the Spartanburg farm team in the Western Carolina League.

Art Powell, veteran end for the Buffalo Bills and AFL record holder, was sent home from the Bills training camp with more than a slap on the hands Friday by head coach Joe Collier.

The temperamental receiver, who holds the AFL record for touchdown passes, (81), has been advised he will be traded to any team that will take him. Collier said a surplus of fine young ends was his reason for placing Powell on the block.

SECOND JR. OLYMPICS TODAY AT POLY HIGH

The Second Junior Olympics, sponsored by the Teen Centers, will be held today beginning at 9 a.m. at Poly High.

Competition will be held in seven classes, 7th, 8th and 9th grades, A, B, C, and Open. High school lettermen must compete in the open division, while other high school athletes will compete in the CIF divisions.

Running events will range from the 100 through the 880 and field events will be the high jump, long jump and shot put.

Medals will be given to the first, second and third places in all events and trophies to the high point man in each division and to the first and second place teams.

Spitz Dethrones Schollander; New Mark for Wetzel

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Eddie Wetzel of the Lake Forest, Ill., Swim Club surprised by smashing the world 200-meter freestyle record with 2:08.8 and Mark Spitz dethroned 200-meter king Don Schollander Friday night in the 18th National AAU outdoor swimming championships.

The 15-year-old Miss Wetzel had a career best of 2:11.4 and expressed amazement at her world record.

"Gosh, am I surprised," she said. "After I did 2:13.9 in the trials this morning I was afraid I wouldn't even make the finals."

She will be a high school junior this fall and lives in Wilmette, Ill., near Chicago. Her split time was 1:03.7.

Runnerup Debbie Meyer, 15, of Arden Hills Swim Club, Sacramento, Calif., also broke the world mark with her 2:09.3 and was leading with 1:02.9 after 100 meters.

They shattered the pending world mark of 2:09.5 by 14-year-old Sue Pedersen of Arden Hills, set July 6 at Santa Clara, on the leadoff leg of a relay. Miss Pedersen had a 1:01.8 split that day.

Miss Pedersen dethroned world record holder Claudia Kolb of Santa Clara in the 400-meter individual medley in 5:10.3. Miss Kolb was second in 5:11.8, compared to her pending world mark of 5:05.4.

Spitz, the 18-year-old Santa Clara, Calif., high school graduate taking over Schollander's throne in world swimming, turned in a 1:57.0 as Schollander slipped at the 100-meter turn and was fourth in 1:58.4.

Canadian Ralph Hutton, in lane eight, was a narrow second at 1:57.1. Juan Bello of Peru, in lane three next to Spitz, was third at 1:57.7. Hutton set a world 400 freestyle mark Thursday night.

"I didn't see Hutton. In fact I even forgot he was in the race," Spitz said. "I was really nervous. I thought Don was going to take off."

"I slipped at the 100 yard and got too far behind," said the 22-year-old Schollander, four-time gold medalist at the 1964 Olympics.

It was a career best for Spitz but he wasn't close to Schollander's world mark of 1:53.7 set in the AAU outdoor last year.

But it was the fastest 200 race in history, with three men at 1:57 or better, fourth at 1:58.4, and Sacramento's John Nelson fifth at 1:59.3.

Gary Hall, a 16-year-old high school junior at Garden Grove, Calif., won the men's 400 individual medley in 4:48, compared to his pending world mark of 4:43.4. He edged Santa Clara's Greg Buckingham with 4:48.2.

"I was tight and I'm surprised I won," Hall said.

EDWARDS BLASTS 'RACISM' IN NFL

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For Harry Edwards, the Olympic boycott never died. It's just a case of chaos while he takes on the National Football League.

The professor not only told a news conference Friday that the boycott of the 1968 Olympic Games by black athletes "is still very much alive," but "we are moving to take steps against the NFL."

Edwards was particularly unhappy over the Cleveland Browns and the St. Louis Cardinals. He said those clubs were "riddled with racism."

Edwards singled out the Browns and Cardinals as the immediate targets because of the Johnny Wooten incident and last season's discontent of black players on the Cardinals.

Wooten spoke out recently about what he called "preferential treatment" on the Browns and later was placed on the waiver list. No other club claimed him and Edwards called this "a deliberate white listing."

He also accused the Cardinals ownership and coaching staff of being "racially prejudiced."

Edwards said both situations are being watched closely "and unless corrective action is taken soon we will move against them as a starter."

"Our whole strategy now as far as the Olympic Games go," said Edwards, "is to create an atmosphere of chaos for the U.S. Olympic Committee. We will make statements about what we are going to do one day and deny them the next, and we will do this all the way to Mexico City. We are not going to permit the U.S. Olympic Committee one moment of rest."

Think here
Fiat 850 Spider
Think of yourself... in the driver's seat of this hot little import Sports Spider. Styled by Bertone, with the lively lines Detroit goes overseas for! — Powered by a hefty rear-mounted engine that'll go to 90 and accelerates to 60 as fast as you can shift.
— Four-speed fully synchromeshed transmission;
— Dash-mounted tachometer, front disc brakes are some of the 30 "extras" Fiat includes at no extra cost.
